

FAVOR REPEAL OF STATE TAX ON INHERITANCE

Georgia To Get 25 Per Cent of Federal Levy Under Provisions of Substitute Bill.

LEADING GEORGIANS INDORSE MEASURE

Reduction in Tax on Foreign Corporations Urged at Meeting of House Committee.

Repeal of the present state inheritance tax and adoption of a substitute which would give Georgia 25 per cent of the inheritance tax levied by the federal government, Monday night was approved by the ways and means committee of the house of representatives.

It was pointed out that passage of the substitute measure would comply with the necessary provisions of the federal act which allows a state to claim one-fourth of the total federal levy.

As of Plan.

If this claim is not made all the money goes to the government, instead of 75 per cent. By passage of the substitute, it is shown by speakers, Georgians will pay no more than at present in federal taxes; will be spared the state tax, and Georgia will be spared the trouble and time used in collections. Speakers stated that at present inheritance taxes are collected in only eight Georgia counties, because the state is lacking in collection facilities. Under the new plan, collection of the state's share of 25 per cent of the federal tax would not cost Georgia a cent.

Appeals for passage of the substitute measure were made by Rodney Cohen, of Augusta; A. S. Harris, of Savannah; Grant Plann, of Macon; A. S. Adams, Frank Weldon and J. R. Smith, of Atlanta. Judge W. H. Hopkins, of Thomas county, presented a petition from his constituents asking for repeal of the tax.

The vote on the substitute bill was 23-4, opposition to a favorable report being led by Representative Daniel of Troup county, who said that the class of men who are not paying taxes are opposed to the inheritance tax.

Gasoline Taxes.
The committee acted favorably upon a bill to allow the towns through which state highways pass to receive a pro rata share of the one cent tax allowed counties for paving roads other than state aid highways. Funds allowed the cities would go toward paving and keeping up streets. Representative Boswell, of Greene county, conducted argument in favor of the measure.

A representative of a large out-of-the-state corporation appeared before the committee to ask for legislation reducing the tax on foreign corporations from $1,000 to $400. He said that the high tax keeps out business that ordinarily would come to this state. W. B. Harrison, of the comptroller general's office, spoke in favor of this plan, stating that more money was collected from this source when the tax was $200 than at present under the $1,000 tax. No action was taken by the committee.

Southern California City To Become Main Operating Base of Rigid Type Aircraft of Navy.

San Diego, Cal., July 27.—(AP)—Plans for making San Diego the home airport of the dirigibles, Los Angeles and Shenandoah, and the main operating base of all future rigid aircraft constructed by the United States navy were announced today by Secretary Wilbur.

The unexpected announcement came from the secretary only a few minutes before he sailed with the congressional committee aboard the transport Henderson for Hampton Roads and Washington.

State Road Bonds And Georgia Port Bills Disapproved

OFFICIAL REPORTS STATE IS FACING $1,687,506 DEFICIT

Chairman Barrett, of Appropriations Body, Reports on State's Three-Year Financial Outlook.

$525,000 VOTED TO FARM SCHOOLS

Money Represents Excess Over Cost of Inspection From Half-Cent Fee on Gasoline.

Unless additional sources of revenue are discovered during the present session of the legislature, Georgia finances will show a total deficiency of $1,687,506.38 for the three years, 1925, 1926 and 1927, according to figures prepared by Representative Ferner Barrett, of Stephens county, chairman of the appropriations committee of the house.

These figures taken from the estimated state revenue for the three years, compiled by Comptroller General William A. Wright; and appropriations already approved in the general appropriations bill and in special appropriation bills, were submitted to the appropriations committee Monday afternoon when it met in the office of the comptroller general.

The committee voted approval of house bill No. 21, which appropriates an additional $525,000 per year to agricultural schools and colleges of the state. This bill, however, is only carrying out a provision of the law of many years standing, which provides that any excess over cost of inspection from the half cent inspection fee on gasoline shall be devoted to agricultural education.

Although in accord with the law, the bill, if passed, will nevertheless add an additional deficit of $525,000 per year for the two years of 1926 and 1927.

Figures in Detail.
Chairman Barrett's figures, in detail, are as follows:

Estimated receipts	$10,917,377.44
Appropriations and estimated deficits	10,167,884.42
Estimated additional appropriations	250,000.00
Sanatorium at Milledgeville	250,000.00
State college at Milledgeville	190,000.00
University of Georgia	400,000.00
Legislature expenses	400,000.00
Deficiency	$11,432,884.42
FOR 1925	$495,506.38
FOR 1926	$10,917,377.44
General appropriations bill	11,021,438.42
Deficiency	$104,060.98
FOR 1927	$1,087,927.98
Estimated receipts	$9,750,710.44
General appropriations bill	10,837,938.42
Deficiency	$1,087,227.98

Cause of Decline.
The drop in estimated revenue for 1927 is caused by withdrawal of the 1 cent of gasoline tax from the general treasury to the highway department as provided by law. This 1 cent was put in the general treasury to meet discounted rentals of the Western & Atlantic railroad, but the revenue was approximately half a million over these rentals. Thus when the last rental is discounted, the treasury will actually lose about half a million by withdrawal of this special fund.

In addition to these figures, which show the situation to date, Chairman Barrett pointed out that there have already been introduced in the house special appropriation bills which, if all should be passed, would for $12,000,000 additional for each of the years of 1926 and 1927. This, of course, is counting everything including appropriations asked to meet overdue pensions, which have been accumulated for some years.

The committee, at its meeting Monday, did not consider anything except the bill to appropriate the excess of $525,000 from oil inspection fees to agricultural educational institutions. There was some opposition in the committee. Representative Peterson, of Montgomery, declaring that the money should be used for common schools before it is appropriated for special classes of education.

The bill, however, is strongly supported and it is expected that it will be passed in its present form when it reaches the floor of the house.

MINE OPERATORS MAY OFFER PLAN AT NEXT PARLEY

Atlantic City, N. J., July 27.—(AP)—Reports were current today that the mine operators would likely present their own counter demands to the mine workers on resumption of the scale conference tomorrow.

Miners have been expressing impatience that the mine owners have been forcing them to "do all the talking" and that the operators are likely to present their case in full before they themselves returned here.

Committee Deals Blow To Hopes—Supporters May Carry Fight To Floor of Senate.

BAR ON TAXATION ALSO VOTED DOWN

Action on Sales Tax Proposal Postponed To Allow Absent Author To Speak.

The proposed $70,000,000 state bond issue for highway construction, Harvey Granger's highway zone bill and the state port bill were dealt heavy blows Monday afternoon at a meeting of the constitutional amendments committee of the state senate when the committee adverse all three measures.

Reasons given by the committee for the unfavorable report were based on the fact that the committee is decidedly opposed to issuance of state bonds for any purpose. The only recourse left to supporters of the measures now is to have the committee's report disagreed to this morning when the report is delivered and to fight matters out on the floor of the senate. It is regarded as likely that this course will be taken in all three cases.

The state port bill was introduced by Senators Morgan and Dixon, Senator Dixon being chairman of the constitutional amendments committee. A public hearing recently was given the bill when the committees of both houses held a joint session at the Kimball house.

Tax Bill Frowned On.
The $70,000,000 bond issue bill which is supported by Georgia Kiwanis club and the Georgia Good Roads association, was introduced by Senator Maddox. The highway zone bill drawn by Mr. Granger was introduced by Senator Morgan.

Unfavorable reports were also given on a bill to amend the constitution so as to bar the levying of an inheritance tax. There is now before the senate a bill to repeal the inheritance tax which was tabled Monday and will probably be taken from the table today for action.

The committee acted favorably upon two bills by Senator Pruett, one to extend the governor's term to four years and another to extend terms of legislators to four years.

Sales Tax Vote Delayed.
Senator Harrell's bill to provide for a sales tax was at first acted upon unfavorably, but later reconsideration was noted in order to give Senator Harrell an opportunity to defend it. He is a member of the committee, but is out of the city on leave of absence.

Favorable report was given on a bill to provide for tax exemption on certain industries in Richmond county. This is a house bill by Ross, of Richmond.

Unfavorable reports were given on a bill by Senator Miller to allow counties to levy an additional five-mill tax for school purposes on a two-thirds vote of the people.

LEAVE MARRIAGE LAW, HOUSE ASKED

Church, Club and Labor Leaders Join in Protest Against Proposed Changes in Law.

Opposition to proposed changes in the present marriage law requiring five days' notice before issuing of a marriage license was set forth in a letter received by every member of the house of representatives Monday from church, club and labor leaders of the state.

It was signed by Warren G. Cantler, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, south; Frederick F. Reese, bishop of the diocese of the Georgia Episcopal church; Louie P. Marquardt, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades; Mrs. R. K. Rambo, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's club; John D. Mell, of Athens; J. H. Mikell, bishop of the diocese of the Atlanta Episcopal church; and Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, president of the Georgia W. C. T. U.

The change proposed would make it possible for couples over 21 to obtain licenses without the five-day notice now required by law, and the letter gave five main objections why this change should not go into effect.

Buyers From World's Leading Tobacco Houses To Begin Bidding for Record State Crop.

GROWERS TO GET $15,000,000, CLAIM

Planters of Empire State Beat Boll Weevil in Replacing Cotton With Golden Weed.

In 40 busy south Georgia centers today the state's tobacco crop for 1925, estimated at 50,000,000 pounds, will be placed on sale and will bring approximately $15,000,000 for distribution in Georgia trade channels. The crop is the sixth raised in Georgia and has increased with such steadiness that tobacco culture is now one of Georgia's greatest agricultural activities.

Throughout the tobacco belt, which stretches across the southern part of the state, from the Savannah river on the east to the Chattahoochee on the west, the tobacco has been gathered, dried and cured and is now in warehouses located in more than 40 cities in the belt ready for the market.

The prices paid for the product on the first day of the sale usually govern during the entire season. The sales attract large crowds and many of the cities will make the opening sale day a day of festival. The auctions are usually of a picturesque type and draw large crowds into the tobacco cities from the surrounding country.

Record Crop Forecast.
According to figures compiled at the state college of agriculture the crop this year is estimated at 50,000,000 pounds. E. C. Westbrook, state tobacco expert, made this estimate. The federal government's estimate of the crop is 48,000,000 pounds, while some of the estimates are as high as 70,000,000. It is estimated also that about 70,000 acres of land are now devoted to tobacco in Georgia.

In the six years that tobacco has been grown in Georgia on a large scale the progress made has been remarkable. In 1919 the first year made in tobacco growing in Pierce county and after it was demonstrated that tobacco could be grown in Georgia successfully the spread of the plant was rapid.

There are 43 tobacco warehouses which will be operated this season at Albany, Alma, Bainbridge, Baxley, Blackshear, Cairo, Camilla, Douglas, Dublin, Fitzgerald, Hahira, Hazlehurst, Lyons, Metter, Moultrie, Peltah, Quitman, Thomasville, Tifton, Vidalia, and Waycross.

Roll Weevil Beaten.
The growth of the tobacco crop is shown by the fact that in 1923 there were but 17,000 acres in tobacco and this has increased to 72,000 acres this year.

In many sections of south Georgia the coming of tobacco has been a boon to the farmers, who were forced to quit raising cotton by the boll weevil. Experts have declared that land in south Georgia is excellent for growing tobacco and is even superior to that of North Carolina and Kentucky because most of the soil is virgin.

Plans are now being made in the Albany and Americus districts for increasing the tobacco crop. Experts have declared that land in south Georgia is excellent for growing tobacco and is even superior to that of North Carolina and Kentucky because most of the soil is virgin.

QUITMAN READY FOR ZERO HOUR

Quitman, Ga., July 27.—(Special.) A nicotine atmosphere prevails universally in Quitman today on the day of the opening of the tobacco market tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, and scores of heavily loaded trucks have been burrowing through the streets carrying the loads of bright leaf tobacco to the Finner warehouse, where it will be placed on auction sale when the market opens.

Everything is all set for the big day tomorrow, and the city will be a mass of fluttering flags in honor of the occasion. Mysterious Woman Obtains Release of Titled Huntress

Tampa, Fla., July 27.—Lady Grace Esme MacKenzie, titled big game hunter and international adventures, was released from the Hillsborough county jail here this afternoon after spending four uncomfortable nights as the cell-mate of an alleged bandit queen.

Her freedom was obtained by a kindly-souled woman, veiled in black to conceal her identity, who made good a worthless draft for $200 to G. E. Bray, Tampa realtor who had endorsed for Lady MacKenzie several months ago. Charges were dismissed.

FOE OF ALL WAR TO SHARE GRAVES OF MILITARY DEAD

SIMPLE CEREMONY AT GRAVE PLANNED

Body To Lie in State for Few Hours After Arrival in Capital Thursday Morning.

CAPITAL WILL PAY TRIBUTE TO BRYAN

Washington, July 27.—(United News.)—President Coolidge, through Secretary of State Kellogg, Monday ordered that the national flag be displayed at half-staff on the national buildings in Washington on the day of the funeral of William Jennings Bryan.

Washington, July 27.—(AP)—Near the crest of a swelling slope, where sleep a great company of the dead of many wars, the American government today marked out in Arlington national cemetery a final resting place for William Jennings Bryan.

His burial there late Friday afternoon, with simple ceremony, will fill his own oft-repeated wish. In life a crusader for peace, he chose in death to lie where the tombs of military men look down upon the capital, amid the beauties of the Virginia hills, but yet near by the towering memorials reared to Washington and Lincoln.

The right he thus asserted to a place in the nation's citadel of military dead was his by virtue of those stirring days of '98, when he wore the uniform as a colonel of volunteers. His grave will be in that community of death where sleep many comrades of the Spanish-American war, not far from the Dewey mausoleum and the monument that honors those who died on the Maine.

All Plans Not C-plete.
Not all of the plans for Friday's funeral services had been arranged to-night, but it seemed certain that the commoner would be committed to his tomb with only those ceremonies which are fitting for a plain and humble citizen. No plans had been made to this time the bugle call that says a last farewell to the soldier, nor to heap upon his bier the pompous tribute of a great government for a fallen leader of the people. Those of his friends who are doing for him the last earthly service believe he would approve of no funeral program but the simplest.

In other ways, however, the government and the nation will do what they are permitted to do to honor him. By direction of President Coolidge, flags on the government buildings will fly at half mast on the funeral day. His body will lie in state for a time, too, after its arrival here Thursday morning, but it is doubtful whether this final public tribute will be paid in any public building.

Family Arrives Friday.
Not until Friday will the family circle be complete and the funeral service that afternoon probably will be held in the Washington place of worship where Mr. Bryan was a constant attendant during the days of his service in the cabinet.

The place of his entombment at Arlington was chosen today by a former secretary of state, had expressed more than once his desire to sleep in the historic national burying ground. He loved the serenity of the sweep of wooded ridge, rising in gentle folds from the Potomac. He wanted, too, to lie close by the nation's memorial to Abraham Lincoln, whom he loved, and that wish will be fulfilled.

The chosen place is one of the most beautiful in Arlington. Within a

Bryan's Last Pose in Atlanta

One of the most recent photographs of the late William Jennings Bryan was made at the Piedmont hotel by J. T. Holloway, of The Constitution staff, while the commoner was here to prepare for the evolution case at Dayton, Tenn. He posed with several other representatives of the prosecution in the famous case, but he is shown alone here, with papers bearing on the Dayton trial about him. The meeting here was the last before actual trial of the case began.

COMMONER'S BODY WILL BE IN STATE TODAY AT DAYTON

SPECIAL CAR WILL LEAVE THERE WEDNESDAY MORNING, CARRYING PEERLESS LEADER TO CAPITAL.

Mrs. Bryan Staunch in Stand for Simple Funeral Services at Arlington Cemetery.

Dayton, Tenn., July 27.—(AP)—Watched by his Dayton friends, the mortal form of William Jennings Bryan, whose spirit fled away as he slept late yesterday, lay in the front room of a simple southern home tonight while the invalid widow worked out plans for bearing the body of the former secretary of state to Washington for ultimate burial in the resting place of the nation's military heroes, Arlington cemetery.

Humble followers of the great commoner came from the tree-clad Cumberland slopes late today to gaze for the last time, perhaps, into the face of him who was their champion of Christian faith and to pay the last tribute of honor and high esteem.

Tomorrow afternoon, under a spreading maple on the lawn of the Richard Rogers residence, where the former democratic chieftain spent his last days and breathed his last breath, a more formal ceremony will occur when the public is invited to view the remains of the dead leader as he lies in state within a metal casket of bronze.

Plan Simple Services.
All details of the last rites for Mr. Bryan will be simple and without display in accordance with the express wishes of Mrs. Bryan. The bereaved woman has borne her sorrow with unflinching courage and has at all times directed the arrangements for the care and burial of her husband's remains.

The schedule of the funeral party as tentatively outlined late today by the widow and her group of solicitors advisers calls for the departure of the body from Dayton on a special railroad car Wednesday morning at 8:40 o'clock. After the first part of the long journey, the 40 miles to Chattanooga, the body will be transferred to the regular train of the Southern railway, which leaves for the nation's capital at 11:20 o'clock.

In Washington it is planned to have the body lie in state for another period while thousands of friends and admirers march by to view the face of the man who fought so boldly in behalf of causes he held to be true and honorable.

On Friday, at an hour to be determined as the events of the intervening days unfold, Mrs. Bryan believed to-night the bones of her husband, thrice the presidential nominee of his party, would be laid to final earthly rest. These plans, it was made clear to-night, were subject to revision.

C. F. von HERRMANN, Meteorologist, Weather Bureau.

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Officials of the National City company announced tonight that public offering would be made tomorrow of a $17,500,000 bond issue for the Trumbull Steel company, setting at rest rumors that discussion among the company's directors would interfere with a financing program. The loan will take the form of 15-year six per cent debentures which will be priced at 97. Proceeds will be applied to the discharge of current obligations incurred through making extensive improvements to the property. The Trumbull Steel company manufactures a diversified list of specialty steel products in the Youngstown steel district. A statement to bankers indicated that its net tangible assets exceeded $40,000,000 and that its 1924 earnings available for interest and taxes totaled $3,215,761. The company previously has had no funded debt.

SLAYER OF FATHER TO FIGHT FOR LIFE

Buchanan, Ga., July 27.—(Special.) Hoke Goldin, 14, self-confessed slayer of his own father, O. O. Goldin, will go on trial Tuesday morning in Haralson county court on charges of murder, according to announcement today by Solicitor General E. S. Griffith. The youth shot his father about a month ago as the latter slept in his home about three miles south of here. At the time, he declared he was forced to kill. The boy is said to have rested his father on a window sill and to have emptied the entire load into his sleeping victim's head. Members of the family, hearing the report of the gunshot to the house to find the wounded man dying.

Goldin's counsel is expected to plead his youth in a determined effort to save him, according to courthouse rumors. Attorneys W. W. Mundy, of Cedartown, and M. J. Head, of Tallapoosa, will lead the fight for the boy's life, while Solicitor Griffith and his aides will prosecute the case.

Hammer Battle Brings Husband And Wife To Jail

Mrs. Indiana Samples, 48, and her husband, Cleve Samples, 32, of Girard avenue, were arrested late Monday night on charges of disorderly conduct after Mrs. Samples is said to have hit her husband on the head several times with a hammer.

Samples told the police that he was awakened by his wife's screaming blows on his head with the hammer. Mrs. Samples declared that her husband first attacked her with the hammer and that she hit him several times accidentally in taking it away from him. They were arrested by Call Officers Walter A. Goode and W. Fred Bullard.

DISMISSAL URGED IN WITTNER TRIAL UPON EVOLUTION

Washington, July 27.—(AP)—Washington authorities asked the District of Columbia supreme court today to dismiss the action of Loren H. Wittner, who charged school authorities with teaching disrespect for the Holy Bible.

The court was asked to set Friday as the date for hearing on the motion and this probably will postpone the hearing on Wittner's complaint which was scheduled for tomorrow. Four grounds for dismissal were outlined as follows:

That Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, and W. P. Hay, head of the department of biology, who were charged with teaching or allowing to be taught in the subject of evolution, were not named as defendants in the suit, which seeks to stop their salaries.

That Wittner has not shown that he would suffer any injury different from any other taxpayer.

That the complaint lacks precision, consisting of statements of theories and conclusions on Wittner's part and that no facts are stated as to matters alleged to be taught in disrespect of the Holy Bible, or in what particulars they are in disrespect. That no facts are alleged or shown which are within the meaning of the statute, which prohibits expenditure for salaries to persons teaching disrespect for the Holy Bible.

THREE ATLANTANS HURT IN UNUSUAL ACCIDENTS HERE

Three persons were injured in unusual accidents Monday night and received treatment at Grady hospital.

Robert Earl Mitchell, 9-year-old son of R. B. Mitchell, who lives on Center Hill avenue, was dragged from Maddox park lake in a semi-conscious condition after he had dived into the water. Attending physicians at Grady stated he was suffering from a possible fractured skull but the father, objecting to his remaining in the hospital over night, signed a release for him and took him home. It was not learned just what young Mitchell hit in his dive into the lake.

R. R. Jackson, 18, of 22 Vernon street, suffered a lacerated leg when he became wedged between an automobile and a motorcycle. No report of the accident was filed at police station.

Clyde Smith, 23, of Eclectic, Ala., reported to Grady with a deep gash above his left knee. He explained that a window sash, falling from the third story of a building, had struck him. He did not say where the accident occurred.

THREE ARE INJURED IN CRASH OF AUTOS

Three persons narrowly escaped serious injury Monday afternoon when a heavy truck and a sedan collided on Oakdale road. The injured are Mrs. William M. Everett, Jr., her 18-month-old baby daughter, Mary Campbell Everett, and Mrs. Everett's mother, Mrs. Lula Woolridge, all of 79 Oakdale road. They received cuts and bruises and the baby was cut about the face by flying glass. Mrs. Woolridge suffered a wrenched back.

Mrs. Everett was driving the sedan south enroute to town to meet her husband. The truck came in from a side street and the two cars collided, just two doors from the home of the victims. They are under the care of the family physician. The truck driver's name was not learned as Mrs. Everett declared the accident unavoidable and wanted no investigation.

P. J. Castleberry, of 417 Bass street, received minor injuries Monday afternoon when he was knocked down at the corner of Alabama and Whitehall street by an automobile driven by Robert Howell, of 33 Rogers avenue. Castleberry refused to go to a hospital. Patrolman W. G. Baldwin, who investigated the accident, booked a charge of reckless driving against Howell.

Portrait Sale Adds $850,000 To Estate Left By Sargent

London, July 26.—(AP)—When John Singer Sargent, the noted American painter, died last April and his will was probated, his estate was estimated to have a gross value of only $27,000 pounds, or about $125,000. Through the sale of his works, just concluded, the real value of the estate has been brought close to $1,000,000.

The disposal of the artist's paintings brought great crowds to the famous auction rooms of Christie's and the total realized was 175,200 pounds, or roughly $850,000. In all, 257 pictures were sold, and 77 of them were for the most part studies for bigger works or copies of great paintings in his beloved Italy, made for his own instruction years ago or left lying carelessly in his studios. Yet dealers fought desperately for them, as if they were original masterpieces.

There was an exciting duel over two copies of "A Redoubt Chief," both sold to the same bidder. The first brought 3,400 guineas, about $17,000, and the other 1,050 guineas, about $5,250.

An American agent purchased Sargent's copy of Velasquez's "Head of Prince Balthazar Carlos," for 6,000 guineas ($30,000) after keen competition. Experts say that no copy ever fetched anything approaching that price before.

Several of Sargent's early works of student days, half a century ago, went comparatively cheap, the lowest bringing 20 guineas.

Before the sale, Sargent's water color, "Santa Maria de la Salute Venice," was presented by his sisters to the Victoria Albert Museum in memory of their brother as a gift to the nation.

If every parent, who lacking education, attributed it to an inherited defect and believed his children would inherit that defect, it would chill the spirit which has led parents to devote themselves to the improvement of their children.

"Darwinism gives us the doctrine of despair: Jesus brought into the world the gospel of hope.

"Darwinism enthrones selfishness; the Bible crowns love as the greatest force in the world."

"Followers of Darwin have carried this doctrine so far as to declare that pity and sympathy, the greatest of moral forces, are unmanly and inferior to the coming of their merciless 'superman.' Few people who profess to believe in evolution have ever read Darwin.

"All Darwinians are prone to underestimate the relative importance of environment. To argue that descendants inherit intelligence because of physical laws is to ignore the fact that intelligent people surround their children with an environment that cultivates intellectual ideals and furnishes education opportunities to the children.

"There is proof in abundance that a child born into a home where neither parent can read or write, may, in spite of such an inheritance, rise to intellectual heights, provided the environment is favorable.

"Most of our great men in the United States come from the common people and it is no reflection upon the parent to say that a child surpasses him in breadth of mental vision or in depth of intellectual enthusiasm. And this is not an evolution, because we have examples of ignorant children who were the descendants of intellectual parents. They simply lack the ambition and ideal that inspired industry. This is not a defect that comes in the blood, but is the result of bad companions or bad habits.

"Nothing could be more disastrous

BRYAN CALLED ONE OF A GREAT FIGURES IN THIS GENERATION

Denver, Colo., July 27.—"There were four great figures in our generation," said Judge Ben B. Lindsey today. "They were Roosevelt, Wilson, La Follette and Bryan."

"The passing of Bryan brings to an end an era in which these four men have been the dominating spirits of American political and social life."

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN ATLANTA BUILDING

Much new building work is planned for Georgia this year, while that already completed or under way in Atlanta is greater than for a corresponding period of 1924, according to figures compiled by the F. W. Dodge corporation, and released Monday.

A total of $17,574,100 worth of building was started in Atlanta during the first six months of 1925, or a slight increase over the same period last year, the report states.

Work begun in the entire state during the first six months aggregated $36,745,200, or a decline of seven per cent from last year, according to the Dodge corporation. The largest amount was spent for residences, followed in order by public works and utilities, industrial buildings, commercial buildings and educational buildings.

The June contract total of $8,263,800 for the state was 20 per cent larger than June of last year.

GOTHAM THEATERS DELETE BRYAN LINES

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Out of respect for the memory of William Jennings Bryan, New York theaters have decided to delete scenes satirizing his part in the recent Scopes trial.

A scene in the "Garlick Gaities" portraying Mr. Bryan as the prosecutor in a "monkey trial," will be dropped tonight.

Lines from the Grand Street Follies referring to the commoner are to be deleted and other comedies in Manhattan theaters which have been satirizing Mr. Bryan by word, suggestion or tableau have had all such parts stricken out.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR ANDERSON

Covington, Ga., July 27.—(Special.)—Funeral services for N. Z. Anderson, 55, president of the First National bank, of Covington, and one of the most prominent business men of Newton county, who died Saturday at an Atlanta hospital, were held this afternoon from the home. Rev. Lee Allgood, pastor of the Covington Methodist church, officiated.

Mr. Anderson is survived by his widow, a daughter, Miss Annie Pauline Anderson, and two sons, James Carter and Franklin Anderson, all of Covington.

News of his death was a shock here. He was actively identified with activities in the upbuilding of the town and county.

TOBACCO MARKETS WILL OPEN TODAY

bid on the first tobacco that has ever been sold in this county.

The following tobacco buyers are already in Quitman: J. Randolph Ruffin, J. D. Morton, J. V. Smith, S. L. Carter, E. L. Moore, R. K. Wyatt, J. W. Massenburg, Dock Garrett and R. E. Williams.

Four other buyers are expected on the late night train and possibly more in the morning prior to the opening of the market.

The warehouse company, through W. P. Moore, general manager, announced this afternoon that the following tobacco companies will have buyers on the warehouse floor:

Imperial Tobacco company, Export Tobacco company, American Tobacco company, Liggett & Myers Tobacco company, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, J. P. Taylor Tobacco company, R. P. Watson Tobacco company, Dibrell Brothers Tobacco company, E. B. Ficklen Tobacco company, J. B. Jenkins Tobacco company, A. C. Monk Tobacco company, Thorne & Ricks Tobacco company, China-American Tobacco company, G. R. Garrett Tobacco company and W. E. Fenner Tobacco company.

Prosperity Seen.
Tobacco buyers themselves will not know possibly until just before the opening of the auction market at 10 o'clock Tuesday what prices their companies will authorize them to bid, but late this afternoon it was generally agreed that the best quality of tobacco would not be brought into the warehouse for the opening day sales, but would come later.

Interest in Quitman is centered today on tobacco, and it is believed generally that the opening of the market tomorrow will mark not only the beginning of the annual business year, but also the return of prosperity to Brooks county and south Georgia.

LYONS TO HANDLE GREATEST CROP.

Lyons, Ga., July 27.—(Special.)—Tons of tobacco are literally flowing into the tobacco warehouses today and being graded and prepared for the opening day Tuesday.

Both Planters and the Center Brick warehouses are receiving leaf and preparing for full houses when the sales start. It is predicted here that between three hundred and four hundred thousand pounds will be sold the first day of the two floors combined can handle that amount. From present indications it looks as though the floors will not accommodate all that will be offered for the day.

Tobacco that has come in so far is a better grade than the first receipts of last year. Buyers, who are here, say the quality is unusually good for sand and first crops. Local estimates place the sales over the floors here a somewhere between four and six million pounds, which means an enormous amount of money will be turned loose in territory adjacent to this market.

Estimates of the value of the tobacco crop, sweet potato, surplus corn and other surplus crops produced in this county, which will be marketed this season, reach $2,250,000.

Atlanta To Pay Honor To Bryan At Big Memorial

With Atlanta and Georgia joining in expressions of the nation-wide regret over the death of William Jennings Bryan, plans for a great city memorial service at the auditorium will be made this morning at a meeting of a special committee named Monday by Mayor Walter A. Sims.

Governor Clifford Walker, Mayor Sims and other city and state officials issued statements Monday deploring the commoner's death, and resolutions to that effect were passed by both houses of the legislature.

Complete plans for the memorial service are to be made at this morning's session of the mayor's committee, and it is expected that exercises will be held in the auditorium, with leaders of church and state delivering eulogies.

Ministers Act.

Appointment of a memorial committee followed adoption Monday of a resolution by the Methodist ministers of the city deploring Mr. Bryan's death, asking the governor to issue a proclamation, and requesting the mayor to arrange a memorial service.

Governor Walker issued a statement Monday in which he declared his views on the Bible to be the same as those of Mr. Bryan, as he understood them, but also stating that he doubts the wisdom of legislation on the subject, believing rather in freedom of religion and complete severance of church and state.

"There are things in the Bible that I do not understand," said Governor Walker, "just as there are many things in nature which I do not understand. But this gives me greater respect for God and His Word. 'I care little,' he said further, 'whether I came from a man or a clod of the earth. I know that an omnipotent God is ruling this universe and I have a simple and abiding faith in Him. So far as I am personally concerned, I want the enemies of the Bible to let it alone, but it will withstand any attack as it has in the past.'"

Refused Debate Offer.
News of Mr. Bryan's refusal to participate in a debate with Clarence Darrow on the question of evolution, and of his declining to speak on the subject on occasions for which admission was to be charged, was made public Monday by Russell Bridges, president of the Alkalest Lyceum system, of Atlanta.

"There is no chance whatever of arranging a debate for me with anyone," Mr. Bryan told Mr. Bridges. "I am so much interested in the evolution controversy that I am in no way willing to make it a matter of gain, and would be very embarrassed if it could be shown that I was receiving pay for defending Christianity."

Storm Hits Virginia.

Norfolk, Va., July 27.—(AP)—Several small houses were demolished, more substantial structures were unroofed, many trees were uprooted, automobiles were overturned and crops badly damaged by a wind of cyclonic velocity that cut a swath a quarter-mile wide and several miles long through Nansemond county late yesterday. No one was killed but many persons had narrow escapes from serious injury. A negro bus driver was badly crushed when the wind blew over the big vehicle and pinned him beneath.

You may now stop at Grove Park Inn, Asheville, at $8.00 per day up, including bath. Fireproof and the finest resort hotel in the world.—(Ady.)

What's Wrong With Shorthand?

Executives say:—

"When I most need her, she's gone."
"She's busy now. Let it go."
"Has all she can write today."
"I used up her time dictating."
"She can't get out all she's taken."
"If I could only dictate while it's fresh in my mind."
"When here alone, I'm helpless."

That's enough! I'll send in the coupon below on general principles.

Shorthand
never gave him any real vacation

How much earlier can a man clean up his desk when he uses The Dictaphone than when he clings to old-fashioned shorthand dictation?

Answer: Ask Mr. Havey, for example. (See coupon below.)

"An hour, at least," Mr. Havey says—others say more!
Mr. Havey admits that with shorthand, summer always meant frantic, last-minute dictation, with one eye on his watch—trying to clean up his desk before train time. An hour off one day usually meant keeping his secretary an hour overtime the next.
"With The Dictaphone," he says, "I can get away early any day without hurrying. In fact,

I'm having such an easy time this summer, that when my turn comes I'll be ready for a real vacation—not merely a rest!"

Miss Lang also finds summer made easier by The Dictaphone. No hurried last-minute note-taking, no overtime and no cold notes to tackle in the morning! When Mr. Havey's dictation is heavy, she can ask the other girls to help her with the extra cylinders.

If you want to know more about how The Dictaphone helped Mr. Havey—and others—use the coupon below.

European Nations Shocked By News of Bryan's Death; Called Bible's Defender

Paris, London and Rome Newspapers, Joined by Part of German Press, Laud Commoner.

London, July 27.—(P)—The news of William Jennings Bryan's death was received in London with the greatest surprise as his recent activities at Dayton gave the impression that he had maintained his fullest vigor.

His appearance as the champion of fundamentalism had struck public attention in this country where he had ceased to be so well remembered since his service as secretary of state in the Wilson cabinet.

The early London papers, owing to the late arrival of the news, were unable to do more than prominently announce Mr. Bryan's death, giving only brief details. The Morning Post, which describes Mr. Bryan's death as a dramatic climax to the Darwin versus Genesis battle, says in the course of a brief obituary: "Possessing sincere convictions, he believed profoundly in himself and the righteousness of the cause he espoused. His integrity and honest belief in his own cause were recognized by those to whom his democratic platform was anathema."

ROME IS SORROWFUL OVER BRYAN'S DEATH. Rome, July 27.—(P)—The death of William Jennings Bryan caused deep sorrow here, especially among those who met him when he visited Rome. It is recalled that he took a great interest in archaeology, history and art while here, and that everybody admitted his profound learning, merry wit and sympathetic geniality.

BRYAN IS CRITICISED BY SOME GERMAN PAPERS. Berlin, July 27.—(P)—Severe criticism of William Jennings Bryan's attitude regarding evolution at the Scopes trial at Dayton, Tenn., is expressed editorially by some Berlin newspapers in commenting upon the death of the great Commoner. Differing judgments of the man, aside from his position in that trial, are expressed by various papers.

The Vossische Zeitung says: "The great Commoner died in harness after battling for 30 years. Just as he opposed the evolution theory of the creation of this world, so he ignored the evolution of the American government and of its citizens, and, therefore, he was outstripped by a majority of his countrymen."

"Three weeks ago," says Vorwarts, organ of the socialists, "Mr. Bryan's death would have evoked respectful interest; but the civilized world has realized since that this prominent individual in ostensibly the most modern country was religiously on an intellectual level with the judges of the darkest ages. Ridicule killed Mr. Bryan before arteriosclerosis, which was not confined to the arteries."

The Lokal Anzeiger says: "The German people owe kind remembrance to Mr. Bryan, who endeavored to bring America's entry into the world war, and, failing, resigned manfully. His declarations of orthodoxy were a reminder of the court of inquisition of Galileo. But he was no hypocrite."

The Tagliche Rundschau says: "Mr. Bryan was a fanatic in everything—his pacifism, and his opposition to Catholicism and Christian Science."

DeKalb Methodists To Aid Rock Chapel Observe Centennial. Decatur, Ga., July 27.—(Special.) DeKalb county Methodists and those of other counties in this immediate vicinity plan one of the largest celebrations held in DeKalb in many years Wednesday, when Rock chapel, oldest Methodist church in the county, observes its 100th birthday. Many entertainment features are being planned by a committee headed by J. B. Bond, church official, and one of the leading members of the congregation.

Rock chapel is located about four miles from Lithonia, and is one of the historic landmarks of the county. Many leaders in Georgia have been members of the church, which occupies a unique position in the affairs of the county. DeKalb Methodists are expected to turn out en masse Wednesday and help the veteran congregation celebrate, according to Mr. Bond.

Preparations for the largest number of visitors ever assembled already are completed. For the past several years, Rock chapel has observed its birthday with a big party, and leading Georgians have paid tribute to its influence on the lives of citizens in this section of the state.

Dr. J. W. Quillian, pastor of the David Hills church, Dr. Marva Williams, of Wesley Memorial; Rev. W. M. Twigg, of Pentecost Memorial, and Rev. M. L. Underwood, superintendent of Atlanta, all former pastors of the church, will deliver short addresses.

The Georgia Railway & Power company quartet will render several songs on the program, which will begin at 10:15 o'clock.

A special feature will be the roll call. Many negroes were members of the church in ante-bellum days, and their names are still included on the roll in the archives of the church.

Lane Will Supervise Citizens - Southern Opening at Athens. Athens, Ga., July 27.—(Special.) Mills B. Lane, of Savannah, president of the Citizens and Southern bank of Savannah, Atlanta, Augusta and Macon, will arrive here Tuesday to perfect arrangements for the opening of a branch of that institution here this week.

Senator M. M. Neely, West Virginia: "Death has robbed the democratic party of its most conspicuous leader; America of its most eloquent orator; old-fashioned religion of its most aggressive apostle, and the world of its most prolific reformer and its most courageous champion of the rights of the common people. Bryan was the greatest commoner since William Pitt; the greatest reformer since Martin Luther; the great orator since Patrick Henry."

William J. Fields, governor of Kentucky: "The death of William Jennings Bryan is a distinct loss to the entire nation. He was a typical American—one who clung tenaciously to the ideals and principles of the founders of our republic."

"His fidelity to what he conceived to be the right, his faith in the ultimate triumph of truth, and his ardent defense of the Christian religion—these characteristics have made an indelible impression upon the minds and hearts of the people of America. His passing leaves a void no other man can fill."

Urey Woodson, democratic national committeeman for Kentucky: "William Jennings Bryan was destined never to become president, but he made a greater impression upon public thought and achieved more in reform legislation than any other private citizen of America. The passing away of such a towering character is an inestimable loss to the American people."

Governor Thomas G. McLeod, of South Carolina: "I am deeply grieved to learn that Colonel Bryan has been called to his reward. For many years I have loved and admired him, and shall always cherish the memory of my association with him. He was loved and his memory will always be revered in South Carolina."

Governor Fuqua, of Louisiana: "Mr. Bryan's death comes as a great shock. I was a great admirer of his, and I find the nation has lost one of her great men in his death. He probably impressed himself more on the institutions of his country than any one else in many decades. He was able, clean and sincere. Aside from my feeling the loss of Mr. Bryan as a public citizen, I regret his death in a personal way."

Tributes Paid To 'Commoner'

Dayton, Tenn., July 27.—The following telegram was received by Mrs. William Jennings Bryan today from William H. Taft, chief justice of the United States:

"Mr. Taft and I extend to you our heartfelt sympathy in your great sorrow. Mr. Bryan and I were long-time friends, though usually opposed on the issues of the day. His will be a most notable figure in our political history. He has had for many years among our people a remarkable personal following, with whom he exercised great influence because they believed in him, his sincere patriotism and his political views, and who will greatly miss his courage and leadership."

COX EXPRESSES SORROW FOR DEATH OF BRYAN. Dayton, Tenn., July 27.—(P)—"My heart is filled with sorrow for you," James M. Cox, former democratic presidential nominee, wired W. J. Bryan today.

"Mr. Bryan had many virtues, but I always thought his noblest trait was his beautiful devotion to you."

EVANGELINE BOOTH EXTENDS SYMPATHY. Dayton, Tenn., July 27.—(P)—From Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, a message of tender sympathy reached Mrs. W. J. Bryan today. The telegraphic message said:

"I feel with incomparable grief and sorrow that I learn of the sudden bereavement that has overtaken you at an hour when the eyes of the nation were riveted upon your loved one, and I have to assure you of the heartfelt sympathy and prayers of myself and of my officers and soldiers throughout our ranks."

"Your beloved husband was a champion of great national and external issues, an apostle of righteousness and a covenant with God and the church for the inspiration and authentication of the Bible, as well as the teachings of the Gospel of Jesus Christ."

"In death as in life, the great citizen and commoner was found on the great battlefield of the world, dying a martyr in the combat for truth against negativism. You have lost a loving and devoted partner, the country a fearless statesman, the Christian world a heroic defender of the faith, and the Salvation Army a true and loving friend."

"In this valley of sorrow, the great Comforter will give you solace and support till in the morning golden you meet in union perpetual."

ONE OF IMMORTALS, SAYS BILLY SUNDAY. Hood River, Ore., July 27.—(P)—Rev. William A. Sunday, spending the summer at his country home here, paid the following tribute to William Jennings Bryan:

"The friend of God, the enemy of the devil. To know William Jennings Bryan was an invitation to do right. Although he chose politics as a career, he was essentially a crusader for Christianity. He was at best when fighting on moral rather than religious issues. He fell with his face to the enemy."

"He was a Lutheran in his faith, a Napoleon in his battle for God, a Lincoln in his patience. Crown him as one of the world's immortals."

PRESBYTERIAN MODERATOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO BRYAN. Philadelphia, July 27.—(P)—The Rev. Dr. Charles R. Erdman, Princeton, N. J., moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, today paid the following tribute to William Jennings Bryan:

"William Jennings Bryan was among the most conspicuous and influential laymen of the Presbyterian church. He recently served as vice-moderator of the general assembly and was a member of the general council. For many years he has been known as a fearless defender of the faith in revealed religion, in an inspired Bible, and in a Divine Savior. He was an ardent advocate of peace, of temperance and of worldwide evangelism."

"He will be remembered as one whose failures were not due to moral weakness, whose courage sprang from deep convictions, and whose independence not only on his gifts as a popular speaker, but also upon his sincerity of purpose and the integrity of his Christian character."

SENATOR PEPPER GRIEVED AT DEATH. Dayton, Tenn., July 27.—(P)—The world is the richer for every man who battles for his convictions and dies in harness, George Wharton Pepper, republican senator from Pennsylvania, telegraphed the widow of W. J. Bryan today.

"All of us, who were sometimes in disagreement with your distinguished husband while he lived, are today standing silent and sorrowful in the presence of a national loss," the message continued.

"Perhaps you will accept from me an expression of profound sympathy."

SENATOR PAT HARRISON WHEN HIS SYMPATHY. Dayton, Tenn., July 27.—(P)—Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, today wired Mrs. W. J. Bryan the "deepest sympathy."

"Your distinguished husband's Christian character and unselfish service have been told on innumerable occasions and in every part of the country. Circumstances prevent my attendance at the funeral, but my heart will be there."

MAYOR OF CHICAGO WIRES MRS. BRYAN. Chicago, July 27.—(P)—Mayor William E. Dever sent the following telegram expressing the sympathy of Chicago to Mrs. William Jennings Bryan:

"The people of Chicago were profoundly shocked by the news of the death of your distinguished husband. Chicago will reverence his memory. He was an outstanding influence for moral, political and social good. The nation has lost a great leader. The people of Chicago extend to you and your family their sympathy."

GOVERNOR FERGUSON SENDS CONDOLENCE. Austin, Texas, July 27.—(P)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today sent the following message to Mrs. William Jennings Bryan at Dayton, Tenn., expressing condolence over the death of William Jennings Bryan:

"With deep regret I learned of the passing of the great commoner, William Jennings Bryan, who has been such a vital factor in the political and religious life of our nation, and who fought for the teachings of Jesus Christ to the end. He was loved and admired throughout all Texas. Permit me to extend to you the heartfelt sympathy of this state."

Governor Austin Peay, of Tennessee: "Mr. Bryan died a martyr to his faith. In his death he towers sublimely supreme over the skeptics throughout the world who go lately and unsparingly have traduced him and his heroic faith in God's Holy Bible. His life will be an inspiration to unborn and untold generations. Since Andrew Jackson, no man has had the personal following among the people of his country that Mr. Bryan had."

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor: "Many conflicting estimates will be made on the life and work of the late William Jennings Bryan, but all of these must include a high morality, and demand that this cleanliness be carried into our political and social life."

"Mr. Bryan had the courage of his convictions, and as such his example could well be emulated by every citizen who possesses ideals."

Senator M. M. Neely, West Virginia: "Death has robbed the democratic party of its most conspicuous leader; America of its most eloquent orator; old-fashioned religion of its most aggressive apostle, and the world of its most prolific reformer and its most courageous champion of the rights of the common people. Bryan was the greatest commoner since William Pitt; the greatest reformer since Martin Luther; the great orator since Patrick Henry."

William J. Fields, governor of Kentucky: "The death of William Jennings Bryan is a distinct loss to the entire nation. He was a typical American—one who clung tenaciously to the ideals and principles of the founders of our republic."

"His fidelity to what he conceived to be the right, his faith in the ultimate triumph of truth, and his ardent defense of the Christian religion—these characteristics have made an indelible impression upon the minds and hearts of the people of America. His passing leaves a void no other man can fill."

Urey Woodson, democratic national committeeman for Kentucky: "William Jennings Bryan was destined never to become president, but he made a greater impression upon public thought and achieved more in reform legislation than any other private citizen of America. The passing away of such a towering character is an inestimable loss to the American people."

Governor Thomas G. McLeod, of South Carolina: "I am deeply grieved to learn that Colonel Bryan has been called to his reward. For many years I have loved and admired him, and shall always cherish the memory of my association with him. He was loved and his memory will always be revered in South Carolina."

Governor Fuqua, of Louisiana: "Mr. Bryan's death comes as a great shock. I was a great admirer of his, and I find the nation has lost one of her great men in his death. He probably impressed himself more on the institutions of his country than any one else in many decades. He was able, clean and sincere. Aside from my feeling the loss of Mr. Bryan as a public citizen, I regret his death in a personal way."

Construction Work Never Lags at Whitfield Estates

Investigate Our Home Loan Plan

For those who desire to build at Whitfield Estates, immediate financing may be secured.

There are no endless details to be dealt with, none of the usual tedious delay. All negotiations are handled in our Sarasota office.

Inquire about this plan and discover how easily and conveniently you may take advantage of the opportunity to own your home in this matchless site.

DURING the summer months, while so many residential developments have been marking time in their construction programs—work at Whitfield Estates has neither ceased nor lagged, but has sped ahead with renewed vigor, and completed achievements now stand as testimony to the determination to provide here the wonderland of Florida's western coast.

More than five hundred workmen, under the direction of experienced engineers and landscape architects, have been steadily at work, adding their deft touches to the glorious scene which Nature has set.

Broad ribbons of street—65 feet in width and asphalt-paved—wind over the rolling slopes. Twenty miles of sidewalks, running along the flowering parkways, are nearing completion.

An extensive water system was planned and announced, and work on it has steadily gone forward. Within a short time the 500,000 gallon concrete and steel reservoir, the 125,000 gallon steel auxiliary tank and the modern pumping and aerating facilities will be serving purest, most delicious water to the residents of this homeland. All the work is being done according to the specifications of the Southeastern Underwriters' Association, so that those living here will have advantage of the lowest insurance rates and the fire risk will be reduced to a minimum.

The gigantic sea wall is rising—eight feet in height and four feet thick at the base, of the most modern reinforced concrete construction.

Many new homes are being built, many more are being planned to enjoy the opportunities offered by our home financing plan—and the setting in which they stand is being daily made more beautiful by the profuse planting of every variety of tropical plant and flower. Palms, crepe myrtle, Australian pine, hibiscus, bougainvillea and every other variety of foliage have been received and are being nurtured to ripe maturity in the nursery—available for every appropriate spot in this modern wonderland.

STEWART SOLD GIANT HURLER TO GRIFF'S ANSWERS CLUB CHARGES

Birmingham, Ala. July 27.—(Special.)—Sale of Captain "Stuffy" Stewart to the world's champion Washington Senators for a cash consideration of $100,000, was announced tonight by Manager Johnny Dobbis. Stewart's sale price, according to the Baronial pilot, was one of the largest paid for an athlete in the South in a major league club. The exact amount was not made public.

Stewart, who has been in the Southern session for the first time as a member of the Baron's aggregation, is one of the outstanding infielders in the league. He led the league in stolen bases last year, and is so far ahead this year that he can hardly be overcome. He is also one of the most consistent hitters and has never donned a uniform in the south.

Stewart, according to Manager Dobbs, will remain with the Baron's aggregation, and will be expected to report to the Senators at the close of the Southern session or at their training camp at the start of the 1916 season.

Both McQuillan and his wife were in court but neither gave the other a look of recognition.

McQuillan's counsel, James C. Kelly, was so confident the act could not be opposed that he failed to file affidavit supporting the charges of drunkenness and infidelity made in his client's petition.

He took the case to award Mrs. McQuillan a "reasonable sum," commensurate with the ball player's income, and to award her custody of the child, but that this would be a formality, since there was no defense.

CRACKERS, WITH LINEUP SHIFTED, BEAT LOOKOUTS

Dell Routed But Gets Credit for Win; Cullop Knocks 22nd Home Run

BY GEORGE CONGDON

The Crackers cracked their scoring whips down on the products of Tom Rogers' sophomore at Spiller field Monday and gave something like a measly 3,500 fans a 6-to-3 win, along with perfect baseball for the opening game of a series with Chattanooga that starts a stay of three weeks for the Crackers on the home lot.

Among the 3,500 people who saw yesterday's game was President John D. Martin, of the Southern league, who, before the game presented to John M. Slaton, Jr., president of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce, the opening day attendance trophy for 1925 won by Atlanta with 16,000 people.

The ceremony was brief. Mr. Martin simply presented the cup to Mr. Slaton and then retired to the Crackers dugout for a few moments, going to the stands later. The cup probably will be given to John M. Slaton, Jr., Crackers president, later, by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, to adorn his office.

The game, with the shifted Cracker lineup, because Red Smith said naughty words to an umpire the other day and drew official banishment for five days, showed the reason for Atlanta's edge on the road trip which ended Sunday. Not an error was committed by Crackers yesterday, but more than that, they were knocking down the hot ones and producing some fancy fielding material all around.

Whoever Dell, who started for the Crackers, and who, old as it may seem, gets credit for the win, gave the Lookouts an edge on the hitting, while Dell just rocked along easily the five innings he worked. The result was that the Lookouts came off with 15 base hits for three runs, while the Crackers had counted six runs on 22 hits.

Each home run caused much activity in the left field bleachers, especially when the one that Nick Cullop hit found parking space over there. Nick hit his 22nd circuit smacker, he has cracked down on this season in the seventh frame when no one was on base. The other was laid to rest in the left field stands by Tom Rogers, and accounted for two Chattanooga runs. Knapp was on first when Rogers got his four-bagger in the fourth inning.

Dodson or Warmoth.

The fray will be resumed today with either Frank Dodson or Cy Warmoth doing the dirt from the hill for the Crackers.

There were plenty of times Monday when the Lookouts clutched up the bases, and sometimes the condition occurred when only one man was down. But somehow the fans didn't get uneasy, even in the ninth, when with none out Bigelow drove a single into left field, scoring Cy Anderson, and sending Dixie Carroll on to third.

That was the way the Lookouts scored their third run. All the other times the Chattanooga baseball artists spanked their dogs around the bases, they stopped at third. The Lookouts had left on base in every inning except the seventh, when two men popped up and the third flied out.

Crackers Hit Harder. Cracker agitators got the only extra base hits smacked beyond the two home runs. Good, while getting three out of four, stepped into a triple to center, and Joe Jenkins punted the apple down the right field foul line for a two-bagger.

Jim Bagby turned himself into a semi-comedy role yesterday with umpire Guthrie as support in his skit. Bagby was using harsh language in the first base coaching box. It felt harshly on Mr. Guthrie's ample ears. Bagby was ordered to the bench. In the sixth, Bagby stepped out to the coaching box again, but was ordered in to the bench again. Maybe he made some remark that furthered Mr. Guthrie, or maybe Mr. Guthrie just had a change of mind. Anyway, he finally ran Bagby off the lot.

The Crackers got one of their runs Monday in the second. Murphy walked, went to second when Brock struck, took third when Jenkins drew a base on balls, and was sacrificed in by Dell.

Forge Ahead.

The Crackers went into the fourth trailing by one run. Two runs in this inning put them ahead. Brock drove

HELEN WILLS IS EASY WINNER

Seabright, N. J., July 27.—Ranking women tennis players came through safely in the first round singles play of the invitation tournament at the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club today.

Miss Helen Wills, national and Olympic champion, and Miss Mary K. Browne, another Californian, won on the national ranking list, won their matches without effort. Miss Wills defeated Mrs. James Symington, of Orange, N. J., 6-1, 6-0, and Miss Browne defeated Mrs. C. F. Lawrence, of Seabright, 6-1, 6-1.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of England, playing her first tournament singles match since her arrival in this country, swept through to a 4-0, 6-0 victory over Mrs. Theodore Crane, of Newark. Mrs. Frank Goffrey, of Boston, gave Mrs. Mollie B. Malory, New York, a battle in the first set, which went to the latter, 6-4, but she was an easy victim in the final set, 6-0.

It is planned to run seven to ten races each day, with distances ranging from 4 furlongs to a mile and a quarter. The season closes August 7.

The American Trotting Derby, with a purse of $25,000 is set for Friday, July 31, and will be the only race on the entire program to be run in more than one heat. Thompson Dillon, four-year-old champion, is rated a favorite for this event.

MOCK BOUTS PLANNED BY DEMPSEY

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

New York, July 27.—Unannounced as he is to public fighting, the heavyweight champion of the world intends to perform a few field maneuvers between this date and the first of June, 1926. Maneuvers are mock fights, and most boxers execute them in their training quarters as a matter of daily routine.

When one becomes heavyweight champion of the world, and a movie star by marriage, however, even one's maneuvers assume grand dramatic dimensions and are not wasted on the privacy of the gymnasium. The heavyweight champion has learned something from Mr. J. Ogden Armour who used to boast that no part of the pig escaped him except the squeal. Perhaps by now Mr. Armour has even sold the photograph rights to that.

At any rate, the heavyweight champion never did waste the squeal. He always harnessed his energy and made it too the ballyhoo for his next fight, his movies or the particular brand of beauty cream that he chanced to be advertising at the moment.

Maneuvers being mock fights, naturally aren't worth as much as genuine championship affairs, but when properly managed they can be made to return a hundred thousand each. Therefore, it would be madness for the heavyweight champion to pursue the antiquated method of performing his maneuvers on the quiet.

The heavyweight champion has not yet selected the boys who will perform the role of the theoretical foe in his maneuvers but there are quite a few nominees who are guaranteed to be strictly theoretical. The mysterious King Solomon would be one. For the other two, the heavyweight champion could take his pick from the sad brotherhood of those who were knocked flat by Luis Firpo. The roster of this melancholy guild includes such strictly theoretical opponents as Joe McCann, Sailor Mated and Italian Jack Herman. If these week men are not sufficiently theoretical, he might select Tut Jackson, who was once knocked out by a blow on the wrist.

It is tragic to scan back now and survey the appalling waste of maneuvers by champions who reigned before the age of efficiency and who knocked out their sparring partners in the view of only a few witnesses, all of them present by virtue of their franking privilege.

JONES REPLACES WALTER CAMP

New York, July 27.—Election of T. A. D. Jones, head coach of Yale, as a member of the intercollegiate football rules committee to succeed the late Walter Camp, was announced today. This action was taken by the executive committee of the National Collegiate Athletics association last week.

Peoples and Gardner have been playing together for a number of years, and have gotten their team work almost down to perfection. Both stay together on the court and launch an overhead attack at every opportunity. Peoples has a serve with a mean, twisting cut on it that will give his opponents something to worry about.

On the other hand, Mooney's chop-stroke, and Simpson's back-hand and forehand will give the present champions something to worry about. Mooney cuts his returns in such a manner it causes the ball to back-spin and roll along the court instead of bouncing. Simpson's back hand is his main card, and can be depended on, while his forehand is little short of perfect.

The winning team will receive a pair of loving cups given by the doubles team representing the Georgia Railway and Power company. The runners-up will be given a racquet apiece, one a Sam Hardy model, donated by A. G. Spaulding & Brothers' Atlanta store, the other a Harry C. Lee Dreadnought Driver, donated by W. H. Perrin Sporting Goods company.

On the other hand, Mooney's chop-stroke, and Simpson's back-hand and forehand will give the present champions something to worry about. Mooney cuts his returns in such a manner it causes the ball to back-spin and roll along the court instead of bouncing. Simpson's back hand is his main card, and can be depended on, while his forehand is little short of perfect.

The winning team will receive a pair of loving cups given by the doubles team representing the Georgia Railway and Power company. The runners-up will be given a racquet apiece, one a Sam Hardy model, donated by A. G. Spaulding & Brothers' Atlanta store, the other a Harry C. Lee Dreadnought Driver, donated by W. H. Peoples, Gardner Meet Mooney, Simpson in Last Of City Net Tournament

BY BEN COTHRAN.

A battle royal is promised for tennis fans this afternoon at 3 o'clock when Henry Peoples and Charlie Gardner, 1924 city champs in doubles, meet the pair of Jacks, Mooney and Simpson, who went to the finals in the tourney last year, to decide which team shall be hailed as champs for 1925. Last year Peoples and his partner were successful in eliminating the Simpson-Mooney pair. This year the runners-up are determined to win the crown—but so are the champs.

To pick a winner is next to impossible. Of course, having defeated them last year, does give Peoples and Gardner the edge, but from the looks of play in the tournament this year, does has played a hand in the results, only to be upset, instead of running true to form as it should have.

Simpson and Mooney fought it out between themselves Saturday for the singles title, which went to Simpson, and are now ready to work together for the doubles crown. They have improved their team work a good deal since last year and will force Peoples and Gardner to play championship tennis in order to come out victorious in today's fray.

Peoples and Gardner have been playing together for a number of years, and have gotten their team work almost down to perfection. Both stay together on the court and launch an overhead attack at every opportunity. Peoples has a serve with a mean, twisting cut on it that will give his opponents something to worry about.

On the other hand, Mooney's chop-stroke, and Simpson's back-hand and forehand will give the present champions something to worry about. Mooney cuts his returns in such a manner it causes the ball to back-spin and roll along the court instead of bouncing. Simpson's back hand is his main card, and can be depended on, while his forehand is little short of perfect.

The winning team will receive a pair of loving cups given by the doubles team representing the Georgia Railway and Power company. The runners-up will be given a racquet apiece, one a Sam Hardy model, donated by A. G. Spaulding & Brothers' Atlanta store, the other a Harry C. Lee Dreadnought Driver, donated by W. H. New York, July 27.—The cotton market ran into new high ground today, and when December contracts sold at 25.70 in the afternoon, they were within 2 points of the season's top level. Most of the buying which attended the rise was based on continued hot, dry weather in Texas, but rather sharp reaction occurred near the close through realizing sales, and last prices showed only 10 to 14 points net advance.

The market sold 2 to 12 points higher at the opening, and the first firm cables and absence of over Sunday rains in the southwest. Support from Liverpool, New Orleans and commission house interests in early dealings gave the market a firm undertone, but the advance attracted a good deal of profit taking. Private intimations that barometer lines on the map pointed to showers in northern Texas tonight or tomorrow eased the tension, but failed to encourage any aggressive selling in view of the dry conditions in central and southern sections of the state where the drought is most severe, and where no predictions of relief were made, either by private map readers or the official forecast.

Eventually the selling was absorbed and prices resumed their upward movement in the early afternoon, showing at one time a net rise of 17 to 20 points, from which level the final reaction occurred. Wall Street interests were credited with the serious outlook in Southern Texas, and there was fair commission house buying which offset the light hedge offerings. Apart from Texas and sections of Oklahoma, however, crop reports were mostly good, especially from Georgia.

Should prices continue at their present or higher levels, it was reported from the local cotton goods market that a resumption of buying could be expected as buyers and sellers were close together, and demand was only awaiting further developments in the southwestern drought area, where yesterday forty stations reporting to the government showed maximum temperatures of 100 or over, the highest being 109 degrees.

MARKET ACTIVE AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, July 27.—The cotton market was fairly active today and after advancing in the early trading to new levels for the movement mainly on good Liverpool cables and continued dry and hot weather in the west, turned somewhat easier later on realizing and on a forecast promising possible showers in the western belt. At the highest of the early morning October showed gains of 28 points over Saturday's close and a total advance of 263 points from the prices ruling just prior to the publication of the government report last Saturday. STATE PROSPEROUS, SAYS CANNON FORBES

Georgia is to enjoy an era of unprecedented prosperity this fall, and with great crops growing in southern and middle Georgia, this state will be one of the most prosperous in the union, in the opinion of Cannon Forbes, manager of the Atlanta, Johns-Manville company, who has just returned from an automobile tour of 2,000 miles, which included parts of Georgia, South Carolina and Florida.

"Business is already improving in south Georgia and the prosperous condition of the crops in South Carolina will be one of the chief causes of this state's prosperity," he said. "In the Piedmont sections of Georgia and Carolina rain is badly needed, but the territory between Augusta and Charleston and south of Macon in Georgia has received all the rain needed and as a result the fields are loaded with the greatest crops ever raised in those sections."

"The south Georgia section is remarkable for the large variety of successful crops that can be grown there," Mr. Cannon continued. "The cotton and the old staple crops are good; the tobacco crop, a new crop to Georgia, is the best they have ever had; the fruits and melons grow good and sold for good prices, and as a result that part of the state is bound to enjoy a remarkable era of prosperity. I believe it will help the whole state because the trade in that territory right now is getting better every day."

Mr. Forbes said one of the best things about the situation in south Georgia is the spirit of optimism and optimism that prevails in that whole country.

"South Georgia seems to be prospering also from the Florida boom, as there are many new citizens stopping in those towns who come from the north and west," he said.

Mr. Forbes said the prosperity in South Carolina will also help Georgia, as the prosperous belt long has been a trade territory for Georgia.

"The beautiful crops in Georgia and South Carolina are going to bring back both these states to their old prosperity and these same crops are going to make business good all through the south. I am convinced after my trip that Georgia is on the verge of tremendous business prosperity and that we all will get a share of it."

METHODISTS LAUD BRYAN AS CRUSADER FOR CHRISTIANITY

Lake Junaluska, N. C., July 27.—(AP)—The Southern assembly of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, passed resolutions tonight expressing grief over the death of William Jennings Bryan and lauding him as a champion of moral, political and social reforms, and advocate of peace.

"Though we may not be able to endorse all of his religious and political positions we heartily place on record our belief that his influence has contributed to the moral uplift of society and to the purification of politics to an extent that can hardly be measured."

High Lights in Cotton Market

BY THEO H. PRICE

New York, July 27.—No one knows whether the government estimate issued last Thursday is correct, but it is undeniable that it has created a profound impression in the cotton trade.

The indicated yield per acre in Texas has opened the eyes of merchants and manufacturers to the possibility of another cotton famine, and it is quite possible that in their eagerness to obtain their requirements they may drive the market very high before the crop commences to move.

The details of the report would in fact be really alarming if they were taken at their face value, for aside from the admitted insufficiency of a crop estimated at only 13,588,000 bales, there is the low yield per acre, which is put at 140 pounds for the whole area and at 101 pounds for Texas. Reflection upon these figures leads one to ask whether the south will continue to raise cotton unless some way of assuring a yield of more than 101 pounds per acre can be found.

Certainly such a yield cannot be profitable, and neither the land owner nor the tenant can be expected to grow cotton unless a reasonable return upon the labor and capital employed can be obtained. The immediate as well as the remote outlook would therefore be very disturbing if the report were to be taken at its face value.

These government crop estimates are the sublimaries of the cotton trade. Ultimately they will destroy the underwriters' confidence, and those who are engaged in the cotton futures business must bestir themselves or find some other way to make a living.

The next government report is due on August 8. It will be followed by another on August 24. Until the latter date, and for sometime thereafter, the price of cotton will be determined by the hopes and fears inspired by these reports.

In the intervals between their publication, the speculative markets are probable, as all speculative initiative has been killed by these frequent and disturbing elements, and the value of cotton has ceased to be an economic or commercial question. To speculate it would therefore be a waste of time.

ADVANCE IS SEEN IN CURB MARKET.

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Stock prices swung upward in vigorous fashion in today's curb market, nearly a dozen industrials being lifted to new peak prices for the year on aggressive pool buying. Oil displayed a firm undertone although net gains in the popular issues were limited to fractions.

Revival of strength and activity in the electrical refrigeration issues featured the industrial list. Nizer 13 climbed over 3 points to a new peak price on expectations of rapidly increasing earnings from the company's new models. Nizer A and Serr-EI also attained new top prices and Kelvinator duplicated the year's high.

Coffee.
New York, July 27.—Firmness in the September position which appeared to be working up toward the spot basis was the principal feature in coffee today, and aside from this month the undertone was rather easy. The market opened at 10 to 17 cents, and closed at 10 to 17 cents, with the world's trans-Atlantic commerce found itself in 1916, when the submarine had made war risk insurance unobtainable except at exorbitant rates.

DECLARED NEEDED AT MUSCLE SHOALS

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Bullish operations were conducted on a large scale in today's active stock market, nearly 50 issues being pushed to new high levels for the year. The day's sales ran well over one and one-half million shares. The demand embraced a wide list, but the best gains were recorded by a selected list of motor, rail, public utility, mail order and amusement shares.

It is possible, therefore, that the explosion plan may be dropped at the last moment. SENATE COMMITTEES MEET THIS AFTERNOON

When the tariff bill was framed by congress, the Canadian water development was used, he stated, to force up rates through the year of cheap electric power across the border.

When the Muscle Shoals development was discussed, the same influence was against its development on the contention that hydro-electric power in Canada by the government has been a failure.

Under Doherty management, Pan-American attracted a large public following on rumors that the dividends would be increased from 4 per cent to 6 and then to 8.

The rumors about the increase from 4 to 6 made good. But then it was announced that Standard Oil had acquired the American Oil Company, which increased the dividend from 4 per cent to 6 per cent was made while the negotiations for sale of control of the property by Doherty were going on.

Undoubtedly the advance of Pan-American shares caused Doherty to get a better price for his stock than would otherwise have been the case.

From what was heard today, however, Livermore figured out that under the management of Standard Oil, Pan-American was more likely to cut its dividend than increase it. Standard Oil's policy is to pay small dividends and accumulate a larger surplus which sooner or later is distributed in the form of a stock dividend.

Undoubtedly Standard Oil of New Jersey, for example, now paying $1 dividends, could just as well pay $3. But that is not Standard Oil's way of doing and evidently with short selling started by Livermore the public is just beginning to come to this conclusion in Pan-American. Well informed Wall street people, however, are waiting for this selling in Pan-American to run its course, believing that Pan-American paying $4 dividends under Standard Oil management is worth more than Pan-American paying $8 dividends under Doherty management. One sign which would not be liked by Wall street bankers would be an increase in commodity prices. General Motors, for example, the National City pointed this out in a statement made at the close of last week.

Today's news had more to do with declining than advancing commodity prices. Wholesale prices of gasoline in the west were cut. Granulated sugar made a new 1925 low. Pittsburgh Plate Glass and the United States Steel both announced price cuts of 25 per cent. American Wool opened its spring 1926 worsted samples down from 2 to 10 per cent compared with last spring. General Motors announced that its Cadillac department was bringing out new 1926 models with prices cut from $390 to $390 a car.

Senator Collier Offers Sales Tax To Supplant All Ad Valorem Revenue

President of Senate Sees
Possibility of Afternoon and Saturday Morning Sessions.

Introduction of a proposed constitutional amendment calling for a sales tax on all gross sales of merchandise, real estate, or other property by Senator J. C. Collier, and severe arraignment of J. J. Brown, commissioner of agriculture, by Senator J. H. Hutcheson, for alleged remarks concerning a proposed probe of the highway department, featured Monday's session of the state senate.

Action on the bill calling for the repeal of the inheritance tax was deferred when the bill was tabled. Senator Collier, chairman of the finance committee, moved for adjournment several times to keep the bill from being acted upon Monday, as fear was held by its supporters that there was not a sufficient number of senators favorable to it present. After the bill was tabled, a motion for adjournment by Senator Gordon Knox carried. The senate will reconvene at 10 o'clock this morning.

Possibility of afternoon sessions and a Saturday session this week was forecast Monday by President J. Howard Ennis, who declared that unless he sees that the week's calendar can be taken care of by the present schedule he will have afternoon sessions called, and if needed, the senate will meet Saturday.

The highway probe resolution offered by Senator Hutcheson will be considered today, having been deferred from Monday after a motion to table it was lost. The resolution as first introduced was declared out of order by President Ennis, and Senator Hutcheson immediately offered an amendment which makes it an exclusive senate resolution rather than a joint resolution.

Calls Brown Insulting.

Senator Hutcheson attacked Commissioner Brown sharply for remarks Mr. Brown is alleged by the Macon Telegraph to have made concerning the proposed highway probe. He referred to the remarks as "an insult to the dignity of the senate," having in mind particularly a section in which Mr. Brown is said to have stated that he kept busy "watching for outbreaks of my enemies in the legislature."

Senator Collier's sales tax plan as introduced Monday provides for registration of all persons, firms or corporations and agents who may be engaged in selling or trading real estate, goods, wares, merchandise and other things, and that they shall pay a sales tax or consumption tax of one-half of one per cent on the actual gross sales, the tax to be levied in lieu of all ad valorem taxes imposed in behalf of the state. Senator Collier told The Constitution Monday night that he

JURY FINDS WHITE KILLED BY ACCIDENT

Funeral services for Comer White, assistant manager and director of publicity of the Howard theater, who died from a fractured skull caused by an accidental fall from his bedroom window early Sunday morning, according to a coroner's jury Monday, will be held at 10 o'clock this morning from the chapel of Awtry and Lowndes. The Rev. Marvin Williams, pastor of Wesley Memorial church, will officiate. Interment will be at Villa Rica.

At the coroner's inquest, Mrs. Comer White and Mrs. C. B. Buren, of 97 Capital Square, a sister of Mr. White, were the only witnesses. Mrs. White testified that her husband was sleeping in the room next to hers and that the position of the bed was for an inverse of the one to which he had become accustomed. She said she believed that he was confused on rising in a half-wakened state and fell out the window, the screen of which had been left up.

Mr. White's body was found, clad in pajamas, underneath the window of his bedroom about 7 o'clock Sunday morning by Mrs. White.

will change the measure today so that it will provide a levy of only one-fourth of one per cent. He said Monday that his plan of working for an extra session is included only in case the present session cannot complete its tax reform work.

A joint resolution by Senator H. P. Delapierre setting aside the week of September 21 as Woodrow Wilson college week was adopted unanimously.

One minute silent tribute to the memory of William Jennings Bryan, who died Sunday in Dayton, Tenn., was paid on adoption of a resolution by Senator W. M. Sapp. The resolution paid the respects of the senate to Mr. Bryan's sincerity, his worth and his ability, and expressed deep sorrow at his death. Further reference was made in the senate to Mr. Bryan's death when Rev. Mr. Watkins, chaplain, devoted a portion of the usual morning prayer to a statement of the saddening effect of Mr. Bryan's death.

The Savannah port authority bill which would make the authority a public corporation, was discussed by Senator Morgan and tabled on motion by Senator J. A. Dixon when belief was expressed by its supporters that not enough members of the senate were present to give it the required constitutional majority.

$50 LOSS REPORTED BY 'FIDDLIN' JOHN; SUSPECT IS HELD

G. P. McBrayer, 35, of 6 Synder street, is held at police station charged with robbery on the complaint of "Fiddlin' John" Carson, who told police that after a few minutes' conversation with McBrayer on Piedmont avenue, he missed $50.

McBrayer denies the charge. He states that Carson pulled several papers out of his pocket and that the money probably dropped out then. He was arrested by Call Officers W. A. McKinney and Fred L. Tipton.

TABERNACLE LEADS IN ATTENDANCE RACE

Sunday attendance in the twelve Sunday schools reporting totaled 5,039, it was announced Monday by the Georgia Sunday school association. The Baptist Tabernacle Agogo class led Bible classes with an attendance of 146. In addition, the Baptist Tabernacle led Sunday schools of the city with 1,126 present.

$345,000 IS ASKED FOR NEW SCHOOLS IN FULTON COUNTY

Drafting of a report for the state school superintendent, showing figures of $345,000 for the 1925-26 school building program, featured a meeting Monday of the county school board. The budget last year called for only $211,000.

The projected buildings include a new high school and two white and two negro grade schools.

Plans were reported for the purchase of a 30-passenger bus to carry pupils from Roswell Road and Sandy Springs districts to Fulton High school, by Sargeant R. L. Campbell, in charge of the military department of the county school system.

Steps toward establishing division lines between the Hope and Peachtree Heights districts were begun. Jere A. Wells was authorized to confer with a committee of the board in this connection.

A state teachers examination will be held Friday and Saturday at Fulton High school, it was announced.

HEARING ON BILL LIMITING LOADS OF TRUCKS SLATED

Hearing on a bill recently introduced in the house asking that it be made unlawful, after October 1, 1925, for any person to drive a truck on the public roads and highways of the state, the width of whose load is more than seven feet, will feature a meeting today of the committee on public highways.

The hour and place of the committee meeting may be secured by calling the office of the Atlanta Automobile association, Walnut 4192, with offices in the Citizens and Southern Bank building.

The association is composed of about 200 representative automotive dealers of Atlanta and is opposed to the bill. Officials state that the new will would place an unreasonable hardship on manufacturers of trucks.

All teachers who have not converted their licenses into the new form of certification will be required to take the examination, Superintendent Wells announced.

AUTO VICTIM STILL IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Condition of Mrs. George J. Hansen, 68, of 9 Angier avenue, who was injured early Saturday when struck down by an automobile as she alighted from a street car at Piedmont avenue and Fifth street, Monday was reported precarious by attending physicians at Davis-Fischer hospital.

Mrs. Hansen has been unconscious since the accident except for a short period Sunday afternoon, according to relatives.

She was struck by an automobile which police state was driven by a negro, Watt Ray, 22, of 69 Inman avenue.

Granada Entrance to Coral Gables

The Gateway to Profits

BYOND this gateway lies a magical city where investors are reaping a golden harvest of profits. Only the other day a fruit grove occupied a large portion of it, while over the balance the palmetto grew wild and the pine woods marched down to the sea.

Promise and Performance

Coral Gables is noted for carrying to rapid completion great public and semi-public building projects that enhance the value of surrounding property many times over. A list of some of its more outstanding developments of recent months includes:

Completed

- Bank of Coral Gables
- Coral Gables Postoffice
- Telephone Exchange
- Congregational Church
- Five modern fireproof hotels
- Venetian Casino and Pool
- Administration Building
- Coral Gables Country Club
- Two fine golf courses
- 200 private homes
- Coral Gables Military Academy

Under Construction

- Miami-Biltmore Hotel, 450 rooms
- Miami-Biltmore Country Club
- College for Young Women
- Coral Gables High School
- Ten miles of waterways
- Two new golf courses

Announced

- The University of Miami
- Sanitarium and Healthatorium

- Miami-Biltmore Casino
- Coral Gables Theatre
- Fifty Riviera Homes
- Lido-Seville hotel, 350 rooms

Today it is well on the way to becoming the finest city in the world--forerunner of the new type of community that discriminating men and women will insist on living in tomorrow.

In this city of Coral Gables, comprising the choicest portion of the Florida Tropics, more than $25,000,000 already have been spent on improvements, and the vast development program calls for the expenditure of more than $100,000,000 additional over the next eight to ten years.

But mere cold figures cannot give the measure of beauty here, where ten thousand acres of gently undulating country run down to the blue waters of Biscayne Bay, where frost is unknown and the flowers always bloom, forever swept by cooling trade winds, forever bathed in limpid sunlight. They cannot give you the least conception of the haunting charm of this city where the business zone is an architectural gem, where are lovely hotels untainted by modern commercialism, where a thousand delightful homes have definitely established a new type of American architecture.

One thing and one thing alone can the figures involved in this vast development program make plain, and that is, Coral Gables offers a sound and secure investment with an assured present and a great future.

The buyers of two and three years ago have made splendid profits as values rose with the progress of development. Many are buying again today in the new Riviera section, with its tremendous development program. They realize that the pre-development price level cannot last long, and that the investor who buys now has the finest opportunity for profit-taking that even Coral Gables has yet afforded.

230 Divorce Cases Jam Local Docket; Quick Disposal Seen

Divorce cases Monday were the center of interest in Fulton superior court as the criminal division of the court is enjoying a week's recess. Two hundred and thirty cases are to be tried this week before Judge E. D. Thomas, all of the cases being undelayed and is believed that the court will set a new record in disposing of them.

22ND INFANTRY BACK TO FORT AUGUST 3RD

The 22d infantry is to return to Fort McPherson August 3 by motor train, and will leave Camp McClellan, Ala., early in the morning and expect to arrive at the fort before dark the same day. The mounted units of the regiment will leave about the same time for their slower journey, which will take about six days. The route will be through Heflin, Bell's Mills, Bowden and Carrollton.

INSURANCE AGENTS PRAISE FIRE MARSHAL

Praise for the work done by Albert Sharp, state fire marshal for Georgia, is contained in a letter recently written by Albert R. Menard, chairman of the executive committee of the Georgia Association of Insurance Agents.

Mr. Menard stated that at a meeting of the executive committee held at Augusta on June 20, he was instructed to write commending the fire marshal and offering fullest cooperation on the part of the association.

ATLANTA'S OWN PRACTICES FIRING

Tybee, Ga., July 27.—Practice firing for the howitzer company and the boom of the one-pound guns was heard today at the camp of the 122d infantry, Georgia national guard. On the beach the machine guns were firing out over the Atlantic and rattling of the guns resounded with the rapidity of a steel rivet's hammer.

The 122d is known as Atlanta's own. Captain Stice, of Atlanta, who is the chemical warfare officer of the fourth corps area of the army, gave a practical demonstration of the use of tear gas smoke screens and hand grenades to officers during the morning.

The tear gas bombs were thrown by hand and also shot from rifles. After the gas began to permeate the atmosphere each officer was required to smell it in order that he will know what it is in the future. Several of them went comically, although they received very little of it. Smoke candles were burned to illustrate the value of a smoke screen in practical warfare. The instruction was entertaining as well as interesting and instructive.

Payrolls for the units of the regiment are being made out already so that there will be no delay when the time comes to "pay off." Major Arthur McCollum, of Atlanta, United States disbursing officer, may visit the camp in person to supervise the paying of the men.

GUARD CAMP CLEAN, WALKER

Governor Clifford Walker said Monday upon his return to Atlanta from Tybee that he is immensely pleased with the military of Georgia, and that he is quite proud of his staff.

"The camp at Tybee demonstrates the high morale and quality of the Georgia national guard," he declared. "The camp is absolutely clean from every standpoint—sanitation, health, morale and freedom from tramp. It was pleasantly surprised by the neat appearance of the camp grounds, and the absence of tin cans and waste paper. Camp streets are all neatly raked and cleaned up every day, and everything is done in the interest of cleanliness. Our visit to Tybee was a most enjoyable one."

Man Who Parson Mauled in Fight Draws Court Fine

Macon, Ga., July 27.—(P)—A fight that occurred in the East Macon Baptist church here Sunday morning at the conclusion of the service between Rev. J. N. Tallant, the pastor, and Henry Griffin, father of a young woman in the congregation, who was accused of hissing the pastor, was aired today in police court and resulted in Griffin being fined $25 for disorderly conduct and his wife was assessed a $5 fine on the same count. The charge against Rev. Tallant was dismissed.

Upward of seven or eight hundred people, mostly members and attendants of the East Macon church, were in court during the trial. A large number of witnesses testified and corroborated Rev. Tallant's statement that the young Griffin woman coughed and made sounds that disturbed the worship.

When the parson told her that "she could leave the building," she went home and told her father, Henry Griffin, of what had happened. He immediately went to the church, only a short distance away, and after entering found a seat near the rear, witnesses declared.

Descriptions of his manner varied. He entered with the tread of an elephant, "like he was walking into a barn," said one set of witnesses. The other set maintained that he entered the place of worship like any other human being.

The fight occurred as the pastor was shaking hands with his congregation in the rear of the building. Griffin having called him a "liar," witnesses said, when the pastor told him that his daughter disturbed worship by coughing.

Rev. Tallant hit Griffin in the left eye and the optic was almost closed this morning. His wife then intervened and is alleged to have used improper language.

Members of the church stopped the fight as soon as they could interfere.

FORSYTH SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 7 DESPITE LITIGATION

Forsyth, Ga., July 27.—(Special.) The board of trustees of Forsyth public school announced today that school will open September 7 and continue for nine months. Tuition will be charged as long as is necessary at least until the litigation touching the schools end.

The school funds are tied up by mandamus proceedings brought by Superintendent T. D. Thurmond, who is not in favor of payment on a large debt due a local bank, notwithstanding the fact that the board has ordered the debt paid. Teachers are still due their pay for about three months. Teachers for the coming term have not been announced.

COMPRESS FIRM BUYS ATHENS WAREHOUSE

Augusta, Ga., July 27.—Charles H. Phinizy, president of the Georgia Railroad bank, this morning verified a report that the firm of Hardeman and Phinizy, of Athens, had disposed of their warehouse holdings in that city, the purchaser being the Southern Compress company, of which Thomas Glenn is president. The transaction involves around $100,000.

The warehouse contains nine compartments and is one of the largest in the state. New owners will take possession September 1. Mr. Glenn is preparing to make Athens a large concentration point for the storage, compressing and shipment of cotton, according to Mr. Phinizy.

New Senate Bills

The following new bills were introduced in the senate Monday, and with the exception of the first listed, will be read and assigned to committees today:

By Parker, 25.—To fix per capita tax on each and every dog in this state.

By Collier, 224.—To provide for the registration of all persons, firms, or corporations, engaged in the business of selling or trading real estate, goods, wares or other things of value in this state.

By Collier, 224.—To authorize the levy of a sales or consumption tax upon traders in real estate, goods, wares and other merchandise.

Nine Injured In Train Wreck At Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J., July 27.—(P)—Nine persons were seriously bruised and shocked when a Pennsylvania bridge train due here at 3:06 p. m., was derailed just inside the city limits soon after crossing the drawbridge at the thoroughfare. Nine coaches of the 12-coach train were derailed.

Several hundred commuters to the seashore were aboard the train.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meacham and their son, Edward, of Chattanooga, Tenn., suffering from bruises and lacerations, were removed to the Traymore hotel, where a physician attended them.

James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, Atlantic City, who had just returned today from Ireland, was also injured.

About 50 others were treated at their hotels for minor bruises and scratches.

The cause of the derailment is believed due to a defect in one of the wheels of one of the rear chair cars which left the track first. Only the engine and the first three coaches were left on the track.

BUTTON GWINNETT SIGNATURES SOLD FOR LARGE SUMS

Sale of the signature of Button Gwinnett, Georgia signer of the Declaration of Independence, for $14,000 has been brought to light in the publication of several biographical sketches of the life of James H. Manning, late mayor of Albany, N. Y., and a lifetime collector of documents and signatures of the revolutionary period.

W. R. Benjamin, known as "Dean of autograph dealers of New York city," author of the sketches, recites an incident in which Mr. Manning was ridiculed for paying $1,000 for what was considered an excellent document signed by Gwinnett. Some time later a poorer specimen, bearing the same signature, sold for $14,000. There are but 27 sets of original signatures of signers of the Declaration of Independence known to be in existence. Eleven of these sets are privately owned. The remaining 16 are divided between state institutions, libraries, colleges and historical societies.

Attention to the sketches of Mr. Benjamin and to the record sale of the Gwinnett signature was brought through a letter to The Constitution from E. D. Bloom, of Perry, N. Y.

ADAIR PLAYGROUND LEADS IN ATLANTA ATTENDANCE RACE

Adair playground, with an attendance of 1,716 for last week, continues to lead Atlanta playgrounds, marking the sixth consecutive week it has entertained the largest number of children. Joyner was second with 1,325, and Key third with 1,023. Total attendance for the week was 17,528.

The honor roll for the last two weeks, follows:

Key playground—Mervin Smith and Samuel Tordella; Chas. Edith Thompson and Herman Bagby; Miss Evelyn Weaver and Turner Lewis; Mabel Margaret Farmer and Ernest Howell; Exposition Beatrice Bruce and Wesley Earnest; Dargatzis and Ernest; and Billy Alford; Mabel Carmen Lackey and Harding Bearden; Forrest Katie Howell and Alonzo Lynch; Edith Louise Christie and Billie Pharr; Williams Martha King and John Bloodworth; Beaudin, Florene Willis and Abe Mason; Springate Carolyn Greene and Harry Norman; and Mary Mason and Charles Nichols; Chandler Lucile King and Phyllis Chandler; East Atlanta Frances White and Laura Morris; Adair Alice Edmondson and Joe Williamson; Grant Marie Wintekamp and Joe McArthur; Piedmont Virginia Myers and Clarence McLeane; Callahan Elizabeth Arledge and Hugh Arledge; McCutcher Margaret; Bell and Paul Walker; Bessie Brinkman (Kirkwood); Sarah Greer the Billie Hallman.

HUNDREDS OF MASONS TO ATTEND MEETING

The Fifth District Masonic convention which will convene at Fairburn August 12 will be attended by hundreds of Masons from five Georgia counties. It was announced Monday by P. G. Young, grand Tyler. Important business will be transacted. Entertainment will consist of a barbecue and a chicken dinner.

COOLIDGE INDORSES GREAT MOVIE SEASON

That the Greater Movie season, which will be inaugurated in Atlanta next Monday, and which also is to be put into effect in eighteen other "key" cities over the country, is of more than passing interest to the country, is evidenced by the fact that President Calvin Coolidge, in a personal letter to Will H. Hays, head of the motion picture producers and distributors of America, has commended the movement.

The Greater Movie Season is the inauguration of the movie season in August, rather than September, as heretofore, and is cooperative in Atlanta, every theater taking part in it.

Speaking of the great advances made by motion pictures, Thomas G. Coleman, manager of the Cameo, and a member of the executive committee of the Greater Movie Season body here, said:

"The average patron of the movies today has become so used to the perfection of the art that it is looked upon as a matter of fact now, and the average fan does not stop to consider just how important a place it has in modern life. Along with the newsreel, it has become the greatest educational feature in America. Take the newsreel, which practically every theater carries on its program. It augments and visualizes the big stories of national interest which the newspapers carry. The child of today can study geography, physiology and not only with a much greater understanding than those of years ago, for what the eye sees the mind clings."

Theaters of Atlanta involved in this campaign are the Palace, in Inman Park; the Tudor, the Cameo, the Metropolitan, the Howard, the Alamo No. 2, the Alpha, the Alamo No. 1, Loew's Grand and the Rialto, and programs for the coming month will be made public next Sunday.

BURGLAR IS FOUND IN BASE HOSPITAL

Miss Ida Corbin, nurse at U. S. Base hospital No. 48, discovered a burglar under her bed on arising Monday morning. She said that she recognized him as a negro, Will Harmon, who was formerly employed at the hospital. He was frightened off by her screams and bloodhounds were brought to track him through the woods. It is supposed, that the intruder hid himself during the night for the purpose of burglarizing her room during the day when the nurse would be on duty.

JUDGE DICKSON HEADS JEFFERSON CHAMBER

Jefferson, Ga., July 27.—(Special.) Judge W. W. Dickson is president of the newly organized Jefferson Chamber of Commerce, it became known today. Hugh Crook is vice president and S. C. Morrison is secretary and treasurer.

Plans for the organization are being mapped out, and Mrs. J. N. Holder, acting editor of The Jackson County Herald, is assisting in the program, which will be one of the most progressive for any organization in this section of the state. It was announced. The organization now has about 50

The Remembrance of Quality

Charge purchases made during the remainder of July not payable until September.

THE remembrance of quality lingers long after price has been forgotten. That is the reason we never offer jewelry made to sell only on its price appeal. But we do very carefully search the market for jewelry of dependable quality that we can sell at reasonable prices, and that price is very often no higher than we have to ask for merchandise of inferior quality.

DECATUR TRADE BOARD PREPARES FOR DRIVES

Decatur, Ga., July 27.—(Special.) An educational campaign to enlist 800 members in the Decatur board of trade and to raise a fund of $12,000, to be expended in advertising Decatur and Dekalb county, was launched here this afternoon. The drive proper will begin August 1 and will last through August 10.

Placards urging Decatur and Dekalb citizens to join the organization in its program to attract industries to the city and county and to advertise advantages of the county were displayed this afternoon as the first step in preparation for the campaign. The program of the organization is one of the most portentous of any trade body in the state calling for the expenditure of $12,000 annually. A full time secretary is in-

DEAN REAPPOINTED TO EXAMINING BOARD

Clay L. Dean, of Moultrie, second oldest chiropractor in years of practice in the state, has been appointed by Governor Clifford Walker to succeed himself as a member of the Georgia board of chiropractic examiners. Dr. Dean is now president of the board and had been a member since its establishment.

LIQUOR, AUTOMOBILE AND MAN ARRESTED

G. H. Donegan was arrested Monday afternoon and placed under $500 bond following a raid by Detectives L. J. Brooks and C. E. McCrary, on a garage in the rear of 257 East North avenue where 100 gallons of whisky and an automobile were confiscated.

The officers also conducted a raid on an Ivy street house and confiscated 13 gallons of wine. A negro woman, Alice Jenkins, was arrested and held in $500 bond.

Nelson Woman Dead

Mrs. Alice G. Dewar, wife of Harry Dewar, of Nelson, Ga., died Monday at Andrews, N. C. She was born at Ypsilanti, Mich., in 1858, and will be buried there Thursday.

You may now stop at Grove Park Inn, Asheville, at $8.00 per day up, including bath. Fireproof and the finest resort hotel in the world.—(adv.)

Your Mind

is at rest... under trying conditions

This NEW way solves woman's oldest hygienic problem in a way centuries of women hoped for

THROUGH the ages, women have suffered a hygienic handicap. Now it has been largely overcome. There is a new way in personal hygiene. A way that supplants that uncertainty of the old-time sanitary pad with scientific safety. Today, women live every day of every year... not a moment's charm lost. Dance, motor, wear filmy frocks and gowns in full confidence. The name is Kotex... a method scientifically right. It absorbs 5 times the moisture of the ordinary cotton pad. And that means great protection. It is as easily disposed of as a piece of tissue—that ends an old-time embarrassment. It is odorized. And that prevents danger of offense. You get it at any department store or drug store, just by saying "Kotex." And that banishes the embarrassment of asking for a "sanitary pad." 8 in every 10 women in the better walks of life have adopted it. Which proves its benefits. It will mean much to you in health, in daintiness and protection. It proves old ways a needless folly.

KOTEX

DEODORIZED

1 Protection: 5 times as absorbent as cotton pads. Absorbs 14 times its own weight in moisture—and scientifically deodorized.

2 No laundry. Discard as easily as a piece of tissue.

3 Easy to buy, anywhere. You ask for them by name. Many stores keep them ready-wrapped—help yourself, pay the clerk, that is all.

No laundry—discard as easily as a piece of tissue

GOLUCKE POINTS NEEDS OF SCHOOLS

The bill by Representative Alvin G. Golucke, of Taliaferro county, to equalize the educational opportunities of the country girls and boys with that of the city girls and boys, which was given a favorable committee report last week, will probably come up for passage in the house following the appropriation bill, which has the right of way over all other bills. Since no opposition developed to Representative Golucke's bill in the committee and the senate by a unanimous vote, and it is backed by past and present state school superintendents, and also by the Georgia Educational association, it is not thought that any opposition will develop when the bill comes up for passage in the house.

Although all the educational forces of the state are backing this bill, it is from his actual experience as president of the Taliaferro county board of education, and as trustee of Stephens High school in Crawfordville that Representative Golucke declared before the committee that he received the stimulus to undertake to remedy the conditions which he found.

In explaining the present inequality Representative Golucke said: "Take three or four of the country counties and compare their educational opportunities with the opportunities existing in three or four of the city counties, and the facts constitute the best argument to be made on this bill."

In Taliaferro county, my home county, the amount spent in support of the schools (including the state and county funds) is $1,000,000, and including a county-wide educational tax of five mills, and a special award of $1,000 to a central county is $2,200,000, with 2,500 pupils to educate and 450 teachers, both white and colored. The result is that the expenditure per pupil is $8.91, with an average teacher's salary of $455 per year for each teacher.

"White county has a total expenditure from all sources of $18,357, with 2,255 pupils, and an average teacher's salary of $351."

"Now consider the other end—three rich counties of Georgia."

"In Richmond county there is a total educational expenditure of $610,543, with 18,864 pupils and 383 teachers. Each pupil has an average expenditure of $32.39 and each teacher an average salary of $1,595."

"Chatham county spends $843,117, averaging $30.34 per pupil and $4,200 per year with a teacher's salary of $2,206."

"DeKalb county spends $389,604 per year on 10,760 pupils and 227 teachers, averaging $36.21 per pupil and $1,716 per year for each teacher."

"Conditions in Georgia are the same as in other states. In the industrial states, where the state population and wealth have been centered, only 10 counties. The other counties remain agricultural and the population is stationary. As a result of our present system, a child who happens to be born and reared in any one of the 150 counties of the state is penalized by the state educational system to a life of mediocrity, and unless these inequalities are remedied it will be impossible for the average county to secure more than a sixth grade education."

"I am referring entirely to children whose life is spent in the average type of Georgia parents who have to rely upon our common school system for their children's education."

Instead, the house took up the bill by Mr. McGraw, of Shelby, providing for free distribution of school books in common schools. Discussion on the bill occupied the entire forenoon, and although a minority committee report also was presented, the measure failed to come to a vote before adjournment.

The McGraw bill provides for a school book commission to select books for the schools, which would also buy copyrights and arrange for printing of the texts.

Eighteen new bills were introduced in the house Monday, including two proposals of vital interest to Atlanta.

One of these measures provides for a referendum for the town of East Lake on the subject of annexation to Atlanta. The bill, which is now in the hands of the committee on city and county affairs, was introduced by Mr. Lindsay, of Atlanta, and Mr. Davis, of Atlanta, who are sponsors of the measure. Representatives Weeks said he opposed it.

Supporters of the plan declared that a recent check of the voters in East Lake showed a majority in favor of annexation. Representative Weeks, on the other hand, said that the mayor and council of East Lake are opposed to annexation and that he understood an election on the question, at which the annexation plan was defeated, was held in East Lake only two years ago.

Supporters of annexation, however, declared that a petition asking for the merger was presented to East Lake city council last month and that council at that time voted to ask the legislature to authorize a referendum on the question.

Other bills introduced by the DeKalb delegation provide for return to DeKalb county of a strip of territory in Druid Hills which was annexed to the city of Atlanta by a bill passed in the legislature two years ago.

Mr. Kent, of Wheeler, was the author of a constitutional amendment measure to eliminate ad valorem taxes for state purposes and substitute a general sales tax. The bill does not go into any detail, leaving that for future legislation, but merely changes the constitution to allow the change.

Ross, of Richmond, would repeal the state workmen's compensation law. He said he did not propose anything to take its place, simply disapproving of the entire law and its purposes.

Lawton, of Charleston, introduced a measure to allow counties which so

When C. E. Tidwell, of the Tidwell company, dealers in office supplies, pulled a 75-pound turtle out of the Chattahoochee river, C. E. Tidwell, Jr., his son, enjoyed a ride. The turtle was caught July 25 near Atlanta and is one of the largest ever taken from the stream.

House Votes Down Proposal For Double Sessions, Adopts Earlier Hour for Assembly

Appropriations Bill Delayed; Free School Book Distribution Is Debated on Monday.

The house of representatives Monday morning refused to support the rule committee in its plan for afternoon sessions. Instead it adopted a resolution providing that morning sessions shall begin at 9 o'clock, beginning today, one hour earlier than has been customary.

Representative Ed R. Dykes, of DeKalb county, vice chairman of the afternoon session, in effect, urged a resolution providing that morning sessions shall begin at 9 o'clock, beginning today, one hour earlier than has been customary.

The bill by Representative Alvin G. Golucke, of Tallapoosa county, to equalize the educational opportunities of the country girls and boys, which was given a favorable committee report last week, will probably come up for passage in the house following the appropriation bill, which has the right of way over all other bills. Since no opposition developed to Representative Golucke's bill in the committee and the same bill has already passed the senate by a unanimous vote, and it is backed by past and present state school superintendents, and also by the Georgia Educational association, it is not thought that any opposition will develop when the bill comes up for passage in the house.

Although all the educational forces of the state are backing this bill, yet it is from his actual experience, as president of the Tallapoosa county board of education, and as trustee of Stephens High school in Crawfordville, that Representative Golucke declared before the committee that he received the stimulus to undertake to remedy the conditions which he found.

In explaining the present inequality Representative Golucke said: "Take three or four of the country counties and compare their educational opportunities with the opportunities existing in three or four of the city counties, and the facts constitute the best argument to be made on this bill."

In Tallapoosa county, my home county, the amount spent in support of the schools (including the state public school fund awarded the county) and including a county-wide educational tax of five mills, and a special award of $1,000 to a central county high school and $500 to consolidated schools is $22,347, with 2,501 pupils to educate and 49 teachers, and an average salary of $351.

"Now consider the other three—three rich counties of Georgia. "In Richmond county there is a total educational expenditure of $610,543, with 18,864 pupils and 383 teachers. Each pupil has an average expenditure of $32.23 and each teacher an average salary of $1,505.

"DeKalb county spends $843,117 on 23,196 pupils and 372 teachers, averaging $35.54 per pupil each year with a teacher's salary of $2,260.

"DeKalb county spends $389,604 per year on 10,760 pupils and 227 teachers, which averages $36.21 per pupil and a teacher's salary of $1,674.

"Conditions in Georgia are the same as in other states. In the industrial development of the state population and wealth are centered in the cities, and the rural population is largely stationary. As a result of this, the educational system in the rural areas is largely stationary. As a result of this, the educational system in the rural areas is largely stationary.

"I am referring entirely to children whose parents belong to the average type of Georgia, and who have to rely upon our common school system for their children's education."

House Votes Down Proposal For Double Sessions, Adopts Earlier Hour for Assembly

Appropriations Bill Delayed; Free School Book Distribution Is Debated on Monday.

The house of representatives Monday morning refused to support the rule committee in its plan for afternoon sessions. Instead it adopted a resolution providing that morning sessions still begin at 9 o'clock, beginning today, one hour earlier than has been customary.

Representative Ed B. Dykes, of DeKalb county, vice chairman of the rules committee, led the unsuccessful fight for afternoon sessions, which had been approved by resolution last Friday. However, the opposition led by Representative Taylor, steadily voted down motions to adjourn, which would have kept the afternoon session in effect, and instead adopted a substitute resolution providing for 9 o'clock hour assemblies.

It was their contention that the additional hour in the morning would be as valuable as two hours in the afternoon, when the probability was that it could be difficult to secure a quorum to carry on the day's business.

Anticipated consideration of the general appropriations bill did not materialize Monday morning. Printed copies of the bill were not ready for distribution, and Chairman Barrett, of the appropriations committee, decided it would be better to wait for them.

Instead, the house took up the bill by McCord, of Schley, providing for free distribution of school books in common schools. Discussion on the bill occupied the entire forenoon, and although a minority committee report also was presented, the measure failed to come to a vote before adjournment.

The McCord bill provides for a school book commission to select books for the schools, which would also buy copyrights and arrange for printing of the texts.

Eighteen new bills were introduced in the house Monday, including two proposals of vital interest to Atlanta.

One of these measures provides for a referendum for the town of East Lake on the subject of annexation to Atlanta. The DeKalb delegation is split on this proposal, two members—Lindsay and Davis—sponsoring the measure. Representatives Weekes said he opposed it.

Supporters of the plan declared that a recent check of the voters in East Lake showed a majority in favor of annexation. Representative Weekes, on the other hand, said that the mayor and council of East Lake are opposed to annexation and that he understood an election on the question, at which the annexation plan was defeated, was held in East Lake only two years ago.

Supporters of annexation, however, declare that a petition asking for the merger was presented to East Lake city council last month and that council at that time voted to ask the legislature to authorize a referendum on the question.

Other bills introduced by the DeKalb delegation provide for return to DeKalb county of a strip of territory in Pauld hills which was annexed to the city of Atlanta by a bill passed in the legislature two years ago.

Kent, of Wheeler, was the author of a constitutional amendment proposed to eliminate ad valorem taxes for state purposes and substitute a general sales tax. The bill does not go into any detail, leaving that for future legislation, but merely changes the constitution to allow the change.

Ross, of Richmond, would repeal the state workmen's compensation law. He said he did not propose anything to take its place, simply disapproving of the entire law and its purposes.

Lawton, of Chatham, introduced a measure to allow counties which so desired to levy a tax for the purpose of advertising their resources and advantages. Such taxes are limited under the bill to 1 mill.

Joseph Calhoun, 16, a negro who lives at 454 Smith street in the Pittsburg district, got tired of hearing men tell him he had urged children to fight. His weariness inclined towards waving a shotgun about the streets and warning all those who looked like they might have thought he urged children to fight that if any one of them moved toward him he most certainly would reverse their footsteps.

While something like a thousand men, women and children watched nervously from behind all manner of barricades, someone telephoned the police. Call Officers W. A. McKinney and H. P. Shiver rushed to the scene and disarmed Calhoun without any trouble. He was charged with disorderly conduct and pointing a gun at another.

"I say, Paul, could I come along and talk to you tonight after the others have gone to bed?"

Paula dragged his thoughts back from their unwanted escape.

"What about your health again?" he asked drily.

"Don't chaff, there's a good fellow," the young man begged. "I'm absolutely in earnest. I want to talk to you from a different angle. It may be important."

"To you possibly, but not to me," was the somewhat unsympathetic reply. "Especially if your idea is to knock me up something about 2 o'clock in the morning."

"I won't be a moment later than 12," the young man promised. "I know the girls won't sit up later, and I'll come directly to your room."

"You can come if you want to, then," Paula acquiesced without enthusiasm, "but if you stay longer than a quarter of an hour I shall turn you out. As a matter of fact, I am going to my room directly after dinner. I have some important work to do and, as I don't play bridge, Lady Judith has consented to excuse me."

Samuel indulged in a little grimace. "Fancy work after a day in the open air like we've had!" he exclaimed. "Why, I should be asleep in 10 minutes!"

"That is because you have little self-restraint and less inclination for work of any sort," Paula observed coolly. "If you'd follow out the program of life which I could arrange for you, you wouldn't need any drugs."

Samuel filled his glass with port, and passed the decanter to his neighbor.

"I'll take your program on in the next world," he promised loosely. There was an enigmatic light for a moment in Paula's eyes, a mischievous smile upon her lips.

"One never knows," he murmured. "You may feel disposed to try it in this."

There were still sounds of revelry downstairs when Samuel presented himself in the small sitting room which was part of the suite allotted to Paula. It was a transformed and glorified Samuel. An amazing event had, for the moment, at any rate, lifted him from the level of his commonplace existence.

"Shan't bother you long tonight, Paula," he announced joyously. "I'm going down again. Great news! What do you think's happened?"

Paula shook her head without speech. The young man rattled on.

"Joyce has come up to the scratch. I never dreamed she would. Never thought I should have the ghost of a look in. She's all chaff, of course, but there are half a dozen fellows she could marry tomorrow. What about it, Paula?"

"From the little I have seen of the young lady, I should say that you are much to be congratulated," was the prompt reply.

"Congratulations? Well, I should say so," the young man exclaimed, with a touch of his ordinary pomposity. "Of course, that sort of thing doesn't matter so much nowadays, but after all, she is the daughter of a duke. I expect I'll have to spread myself with the government a bit. Can't stand Mr. and Lady Joyce Fernham. I couldn't believe my ears or my eyes. Paula, when she suddenly turned serious. We were playing billiards—quite her own idea—and she'd been chaffing along just as usual, when she suddenly stopped."

"Please spare me these details," Paula begged. "You're engaged to be married to a charming girl, I have congratulated you. It is within a stroke of midnight, and I haven't finished my work."

"Can't get rid of me like that, old chap," Samuel observed. "What an unsociable beggar you are, sitting up here all the evening!"

"I excused myself to Lady Judith as well as to your uncle," Paula explained. "I don't play bridge and I have some important work on hand."

Honerton was a house conducted on suitable principles, and Samuel mixed a whisky and soda from the decanter upon the sideboard and threw himself upon an easy chair.

"I say," he began, "you needn't look so alarmed. I'm not going to stay more than a few minutes, but I do want just a word or two of advice. I know I've knocked about a bit, got a bit soft and not taken care of myself as well as I might. That's all very well when a chap got nobody else to think about, but it's all changed now. I've got to get rid of this nervousness, Paula, even if I go into training for it. I'm prepared to do anything reasonable—drink half as much, smoke half as much, and, of course, it's finished with the little girls and that sort of thing. You're the cleverest chap I know—better than any physician I ever went to. Help me get back in line again, Paula. I'll never forget it. I promise you that."

"You think I'm a bit of a rotter, don't you?" Paula asked, and I ain't, but I've got a bit of the family obstinacy in me. I can stick to a thing, when I mean to, that I suffer for the moment is something a little stiffer than 'Neurotic'. I've got to go and stay with Joyce's people, and that idea terrifies me. The old chap never moves out of Newland wears a knife and fancies himself as a politician, and a religionist—writes long letters to the paper nobody ever reads, and never moves without a chap blowing into those bagpipes in front of him. He won't like it, Paula, and he won't like me, but I've got to go through with it."

Paula had sunk a little lower into his chair and was watching his visitor with some accession of interest. "No," he admitted slowly, "he probably won't like you. You will probably even be a shock to him."

Samuel Junior crossed his legs, and coughed.

"If I'm good enough for Joyce," he announced, "that's all that counts with me. After all, there aren't many sons-in-law in this country who could settle half a million upon the woman they're going to marry—so that I've made up my mind to settle as much as that."

Paula rose to his feet. "He disappeared through the connecting door into his bedroom, and returned in a few minutes shaking a small bottle in his hand. He poured the contents into a tumbler, and handed it to the young man.

"I'm all right now," the latter remarked, eyeing it a little dubiously. "Full of beans and all that sort of thing, pulse as steady as a rock. Can't I keep this until tomorrow?"

Paula shook his head. "You must drink that now," he enjoined, "only one more whisky and soda tonight and you'd be better if you didn't smoke. Tomorrow I'll plan out an altogether new life for you. If you follow my instructions I may be able to do you some good, but I tell you frankly that I do not reserve the faintest interest in any one who does not do absolutely as he is told."

The young man drank off his draught, and stood up.

"I don't care what you tell me," he declared, "cold baths, breathing exercises—I'll take 'em all. I feel as though I had something to live for now, if you understand me. One gets kind of selfish with no one special in the world to hang on to."

Paula moved towards the door, and Samuel followed him reluctantly.

"I shall just have a prow around downstairs," he confided, "although I expect the girls have gone to bed by now. What time are you off in the morning, Paula?"

"At nine o'clock or as soon after as I can. Close the door, there's a good fellow. Good night."

Samuel made his way downstairs, discovered, as he had feared, that Judith and Joyce had retired, and turned away from the winter garden, where one or two of the male guests were still sitting up, with a little glow of conscious rectitude.

He went to his room, where his servant—not expecting him for another hour or two, and having only just left a cheerful bridge party in the housekeeper's room—was engaged in a hurried execution of his belated duties. Samuel took off his coat, and slipped on a smoking jacket.

"I'll look after myself, Jenkins, to-night," he announced.

The man withdrew and Samuel helped himself to a whisky and soda and looked out across the moonlit park. Then he yawned again. He was really very drowsy, very sleepy indeed. Almost automatically he commenced to undress.

Paula was finishing his breakfast on the following morning when Amherley entered the dining room hurriedly. There was a look of trouble on his wholesome, good-humored face.

"Have you heard what's happened, Sir Lawrence?" he exclaimed.

Paula shook his head.

"I haven't seen a soul this morning."

"They can't find young Samuel!"

"Can't find him?" Paula repeated. "I thought the trouble generally was to get him out of bed before 10 o'clock."

"His bed hasn't been slept in," Amherley went on. "His evening clothes are lying all over the place, and his servant thinks from some things that are missing that he must have changed into a lounge suit. At any rate, he's not in his room and not a soul seems to have seen anything of him."

Paula rose to his feet, walked to the sideboard, and helped himself to another cup of tea.

"He came to my room last night and talked about starting to lead a new life," he observed. "I expect he's gone out for another morning walk and breathing exercises in the park. Better have some breakfast. He'll turn up."

"Well, I don't know much about the young man's habits," Amherley admitted, "but from what I do know of him I cannot conceive a more unlikely person to start out for a tramp before breakfast on a wet morning. However, I suppose it's no use meeting trouble half-way. I shouldn't think anything of it except for the extraordinary episode of young Ernest's disappearance from this same house. Judith takes it pretty seriously. She rushed off somewhere at once—down to the garage, I think."

Paula stirred his tea thoughtfully. "The garage?" he repeated. "Surely she could have telephoned to find out whether the young man had taken his car or not?"

"As a matter of fact, I happen to know he has not," Amherley remarked. "I telephoned down myself directly I was sure that he wasn't in his room, and his car is there and his chauffeur with orders to be ready at 11 o'clock. That was about Fernham's idea of a suitable time to commence the day."

"Lady Judith is very intelligent," Paula mused. "She probably has a theory of her own."

"She's over-energetic," Amherley agreed. "All nerves and brain and that sort of thing. I'm trying to persuade her to marry me this winter and, if I can, I shall take her Egypt right away from the whole show. Ernest was rather a cub, but she was genuinely fond of him, and if this young man has really hopped it, too, it's getting a bit thick, isn't it? Do you mind passing me the butter?"

Joseph made a somewhat abrupt appearance in the dining room. He forgot to be pompous, and was without a doubt seriously disturbed.

"Samuel's gone!" he exclaimed. "Not a sign of him anywhere! Left the house and no one can tell whether it was last night or this morning. There's one thing we do know this time, though. He left of his own accord and he left deliberately—even changed his clothes before he went."

"I've just been telling Lord Amherley here that he came to see me last night and that I saw him in his nightgown and his manner of living. He has probably gone for an early morning walk."

"If he's done anything of that sort without leaving a message," Joseph declared viciously, "I'll wring the breath out of his body."

"I trust that Lady Honerton is not alarmed," Paula ventured.

"Her attitude is amazing," Joseph acknowledged, standing before the sideboard, his natural goodness struggling with a sense of incongruity as he studied his favorite dish of kidneys and bacon. "She takes the matter seriously but she showed not the slightest surprise. Well, I suppose one must carry on," he added vaguely, lifting a spoon and fork. "The lad may be all right."

"Is there anything further I can do, sir?" Amherley inquired, rising to his feet and pushing his chair back. "I'm not shooting anything today. Would you like me to motor over to Norwich and see the chief constable?"

THE GUMPS—THE SIMPLE LIFE

WHAT A FOOL A FELLOW IS TO LIVE IN THE CITY PAYING OUT HIS GOOD MONEY FOR FOOD, RENT AND CLOTHES—AFTER HE SPENDS A WEEK WORKING LIKE A HORSE ALL HE HAS LEFT OUT OF HIS PAY IS THE ENVELOPE IT CAME IN—NO MATTER HOW MUCH HE MAKES HE HAS TO SPEND IT ALL TO LIVE—HE HAS ABOUT AS MUCH CHANCE TO GET ANY WHERE AS A SNAIL

OUT HERE A MAN CAN LIVE FOR EVER WITHOUT SPENDING A DIME—HIS CHICKENS ARE THERE TO SUPPLY FRESH EGGS AND CHICKEN DINNERS WHEN EVER HE WANTS ONE—IF HE LIKES A FISH TO PICK UP A WORM TOSSES IT OUT IN THE LAKE AND PULLS IN A DINNER THAT WOULD COST FIVE BUCKS IN THE CITY—ALL THE VEGETABLES HE CAN EAT ARE PARKING IN HIS BACK YARD WAITING FOR TO BE INVITED INTO THE KITCHEN—

WHAT A CINCH—NO TELEPHONE, GAS OR ELECTRIC LIGHT BILLS—A PERFECT LAKE THAT CAN BE USED AS A COMBINATION BATH-TUB AND DRINKING FOUNTAIN—WHAT USE HAS OLD TIMER FOR MONEY—HE GROWS HIS OWN TOBACCO AND SMOKE IT IN A CORN COB PIPE THAT HE RAISED FROM A SEED—OUT HERE ALL A FELLOW HAS TO DO IS FIND A DOLLAR PUT IT IN THE BANK AND HE CAN LIVE ON THE INTEREST FOR THE REST OF HIS LIFE—

THE YOUNG MAN DRANK OFF HIS DRAUGHT, AND STOOD UP.

"I DON'T CARE WHAT YOU TELL ME," HE DECLARED, "COLD BATHS, BREATHING EXERCISES—I'LL TAKE 'EM ALL. I FEEL AS THOUGH I HAD SOMETHING TO LIVE FOR NOW, IF YOU UNDERSTAND ME. ONE GETS KIND OF SELFISH WITH NO ONE SPECIAL IN THE WORLD TO HANG ON TO."

PAULA MOVED TOWARDS THE DOOR, AND SAMUEL FOLLOWED HIM RELUCTANTLY.

"I SHALL JUST HAVE A PROWL AROUND DOWNSTAIRS," HE CONFIDED, "ALTHOUGH I EXPECT THE GIRLS HAVE GONE TO BED BY NOW. WHAT TIME ARE YOU OFF IN THE MORNING, PAULA?"

"AT NINE O'CLOCK OR AS SOON AFTER AS I CAN. CLOSE THE DOOR, THERE'S A GOOD FELLOW. GOOD NIGHT."

SAMUEL MADE HIS WAY DOWNSTAIRS, DISCOVERED, AS HE HAD FEARED, THAT JUDITH AND JOYCE HAD RETIRED, AND TURNED AWAY FROM THE WINTER GARDEN, WHERE ONE OR TWO OF THE MALE GUESTS WERE STILL SITTING UP, WITH A LITTLE GLOW OF CONSCIOUS RECTITUDE.

HE WENT TO HIS ROOM, WHERE HIS SERVANT—NOT EXPECTING HIM FOR ANOTHER HOUR OR TWO, AND HAVING ONLY JUST LEFT A CHEERFUL BRIDGE PARTY IN THE HOUSEKEEPER'S ROOM—WAS ENGAGED IN A HURRIED EXECUTION OF HIS BELATED DUTIES. SAMUEL TOOK OFF HIS COAT, AND SLIPPED ON A SMOKING JACKET.

"I'LL LOOK AFTER MYSELF, JENKINS, TO-NIGHT," HE ANNOUNCED.

THE MAN WITHDREW AND SAMUEL HELPED HIMSELF TO A WHISKY AND SODA AND LOOKED OUT ACROSS THE MOONLIT PARK. THEN HE YAWNED AGAIN. HE WAS REALLY VERY DROWSY, VERY SLEEPY INDEED. ALMOST AUTOMATICALLY HE COMMENCED TO UNDESS.

PAULA WAS FINISHING HIS BREAKFAST ON THE FOLLOWING MORNING WHEN AMHERLEY ENTERED THE DINING ROOM HURRIEDLY. THERE WAS A LOOK OF TROUBLE ON HIS WHOLESOME, GOOD-HUMORED FACE.

"HAVE YOU HEARD WHAT'S HAPPENED, SIR LAWRENCE?" HE EXCLAIMED.

PAULA SHOOK HIS HEAD.

"I HAVEN'T SEEN A SOUL THIS MORNING."

"THEY CAN'T FIND YOUNG SAMUEL!"

"CAN'T FIND HIM?" PAULA REPEATED. "I THOUGHT THE TROUBLE GENERALLY WAS TO GET HIM OUT OF BED BEFORE 10 O'CLOCK."

"HIS BED HASN'T BEEN SLEPT IN," AMHERLEY WENT ON. "HIS EVENING CLOTHES ARE LYING ALL OVER THE PLACE, AND HIS SERVANT THINKS FROM SOME THINGS THAT ARE MISSING THAT HE MUST HAVE CHANGED INTO A LOUNGE SUIT. AT ANY RATE, HE'S NOT IN HIS ROOM AND NOT A SOUL SEEMS TO HAVE SEEN ANYTHING OF HIM."

PAULA ROSE TO HIS FEET, WALKED TO THE SIDEBOARD, AND HELPED HIMSELF TO ANOTHER CUP OF TEA.

"HE CAME TO MY ROOM LAST NIGHT AND TALKED ABOUT STARTING TO LEAD A NEW LIFE," HE OBSERVED. "I EXPECT HE'S GONE OUT FOR ANOTHER MORNING WALK AND BREATHING EXERCISES IN THE PARK. BETTER HAVE SOME BREAKFAST. HE'LL TURN UP."

"WELL, I DON'T KNOW MUCH ABOUT THE YOUNG MAN'S HABITS," AMHERLEY ADMITTED, "BUT FROM WHAT I DO KNOW OF HIM I CANNOT CONCEIVE A MORE UNLIKELY PERSON TO START OUT FOR A TRAMP BEFORE BREAKFAST ON A WET MORNING. HOWEVER, I SUPPOSE IT'S NO USE MEETING TROUBLE HALF-WAY. I SHOULDN'T THINK ANYTHING OF IT EXCEPT FOR THE EXTRAORDINARY EPISODE OF YOUNG ERNEST'S DISAPPEARANCE FROM THIS SAME HOUSE. JUDITH TAKES IT PRETTY SERIOUSLY. SHE RUSHED OFF SOMEWHERE AT ONCE—DOWN TO THE GARAGE, I THINK."

PAULA STIRRED HIS TEA THOUGHTFULLY. "THE GARAGE?" HE REPEATED. "SURELY SHE COULD HAVE TELEPHONED TO FIND OUT WHETHER THE YOUNG MAN HAD TAKEN HIS CAR OR NOT?"

"AS A MATTER OF FACT, I HAPPEN TO KNOW HE HAS NOT," AMHERLEY REMARKED. "I TELEPHONED DOWN MYSELF DIRECTLY I WAS SURE THAT HE WASN'T IN HIS ROOM, AND HIS CAR IS THERE AND HIS CHAUFFEUR WITH ORDERS TO BE READY AT 11 O'CLOCK. THAT WAS ABOUT FERNHAM'S IDEA OF A SUITABLE TIME TO COMMENCE THE DAY."

"LADY JUDITH IS VERY INTELLIGENT," PAULA MUSED. "SHE PROBABLY HAS A THEORY OF HER OWN."

"SHE'S OVER-ENERGETIC," AMHERLEY AGREED. "ALL NERVES AND BRAIN AND THAT SORT OF THING. I'M TRYING TO PERSUADE HER TO MARRY ME THIS WINTER AND, IF I CAN, I SHALL TAKE HER EGYPT RIGHT AWAY FROM THE WHOLE SHOW. ERNEST WAS RATHER A CUB, BUT SHE WAS GENUINELY FOND OF HIM, AND IF THIS YOUNG MAN HAS REALLY HOPPED IT, TOO, IT'S GETTING A BIT THICK, ISN'T IT? DO YOU MIND PASSING ME THE BUTTER?"

JOSEPH MADE A SOMEWHAT ABRUPT APPEARANCE IN THE DINING ROOM. HE FORGOT TO BE POMPOUS, AND WAS WITHOUT A DOUBT SERIOUSLY DISTURBED.

"SAMUEL'S GONE!" HE EXCLAIMED. "NOT A SIGN OF HIM ANYWHERE! LEFT THE HOUSE AND NO ONE CAN TELL WHETHER IT WAS LAST NIGHT OR THIS MORNING. THERE'S ONE THING WE DO KNOW THIS TIME, THOUGH. HE LEFT OF HIS OWN ACCORD AND HE LEFT DELIBERATELY—EVEN CHANGED HIS CLOTHES BEFORE HE WENT."

"I'VE JUST BEEN TELLING LORD AMHERLEY HERE THAT HE CAME TO SEE ME LAST NIGHT AND THAT I SAW HIM IN HIS NIGHTGOWN AND HIS MANNER OF LIVING. HE HAS PROBABLY GONE FOR AN EARLY MORNING WALK."

"IF HE'S DONE ANYTHING OF THAT SORT WITHOUT LEAVING A MESSAGE," JOSEPH DECLARED VIOLENTLY, "I'LL WRING THE BREATH OUT OF HIS BODY."

"I TRUST THAT LADY HONERTON IS NOT ALARMED," PAULA VENTURED.

"HER ATTITUDE IS AMAZING," JOSEPH ACKNOWLEDGED, STANDING BEFORE THE SIDEBOARD, HIS NATURAL GOODNESS STRUGGLING WITH A SENSE OF INCONGRUITY AS HE STUDIED HIS FAVORITE DISH OF KIDNEYS AND BACON. "SHE TAKES THE MATTER SERIOUSLY BUT SHE SHOWED NOT THE SLIGHTEST SURPRISE. WELL, I SUPPOSE ONE MUST CARRY ON," HE ADDED VAGUELY, LIFTING A SPOON AND FORK. "THE LAD MAY BE ALL RIGHT."

"IS THERE ANYTHING FURTHER I CAN DO, SIR?" AMHERLEY INQUIRED, RISING TO HIS FEET AND PUSHING HIS CHAIR BACK. "I'M NOT SHOOTING ANYTHING TODAY. WOULD YOU LIKE ME TO MOTOR OVER TO NORWICH AND SEE THE CHIEF CONSTABLE?"

Alamo No. 1—Big western features and comedies.

"Light of Western Stars."

(At the Rialto.)
The line forms at the left at the Rialto theatre this week—and there are at least a half dozen good reasons for it.

"The Light of Western Stars," the main attraction, is a Zane Grey story, and its numerous readers and admirers are flocking to see if Paramount's screen version does it justice. Jack Holt, Noah Berry and Billie Dove, featured in the production, each has a host of local admirers and they are turning out in masses to cheer their favorites.

"The Light of Western Stars," faithfully depicts the romance, the heroism, and the villainy of the Arizona range country in those lawless days when it was the last frontier of the great west. Filmed amid the scenic grandeur of the desert country of the desert country, the picture is a production stands head and shoulders above the average so-called "western" because it has embodied in it the spirit of the pioneers and empire builders.

"Wild Pajaro" is the Spat comedy. A news reel is shown. Whitney Huber conducts the musical program.

"The Black Cyclone."

(At the Howard.)
A story of a horse's love and courage and cunning told in a way never before seen on the screen is found in "The Black Cyclone," with Rex, the feature attraction on one of the most elaborate and widely-diversified programs presented to patrons of the theatre.

Five special added attractions are included in the program in addition to the screen features. On the program, Miss Olive Hill, former premier danseuse of the George White Scandals in New York is presented in a colorful array of dances.

Miss Aileen Morgan Stephens, violinist and pianist, will play much of the program in her repertoire of semi-classical offerings. And Walter Herbert, baritone, renders a solo with his rich voice that is characteristically splendid.

Corinne Griffith.

(At the Metropolitan.)
Admirers of the enchanting Corinne Griffith are again afforded an opportunity of seeing that talented actress in a tempestuously dramatic role this week at the Metropolitan theatre, where "The Marriage Whirl" has just begun an engagement.

Never has the beautiful Corinne enacted a more trying role, and never has her triumph been greater.

Foremost in her support are Kenneth Harlan, Harrison Ford and Nita Naldi. With Kenneth Harlan, Miss Griffith portrays an American couple typical of the thousands who annually fall under the spell of the French capital, where the rising sun alone brings a respite from the gloom of the Parisian night life, the heroine fights a vain battle to save him, only to be forced in the end to turn herself for support to the staunch friend who once had hoped to win her hand. The latter is skillfully etched by Harrison Ford.

Good comedy, news reel and overture complete the bill.

THREE FINE ACTS SHOWN THIS WEEK ON FORSYTH BILL

The big-time Keith vaudeville bill at the Forsyth this week opens up strong. The second act weakens somewhat, and the entertainment value fades away practically to nothing during the third number. But it comes back strong when fourth place shows up and the fifth act closes the bill in a display of entertainment genius.

All of which means that the percentage of the program is good. Three scores out of five times at a good hitting in any man's league.

Patsy Ruth Miller and Rex, who are the big part of the show, are a Garbelle, Cass at the piano, didn't do quite so well in second place. Miss Clifford has one of those double voices—a baritone and half the time a soprano. She is better as a soprano.

The third act is one of those alleged "mid-range" stunts, where a merchant walks through the audience while "Mile Stanton" plays the tunes of which patrons are thinking. Apparently a portion of the audience enjoy this kind of thing, but it is a type of performance that has always seemed the utmost zero as amusement.

Olive Briscoe and Al Raue make splendid show savers in fourth place, however. The male half of the team is a clever "book" comedian and also has an appealing voice, and the woman is a good foil and sings acceptably.

But it is the fifth act that is the big part of the show. A Garbelle, with four of the prettiest girls ever collected in a dancing act that begins delightfully and finishes with a burst of speed that holds the customers in their seats, even if it does close the show. And, incidentally, the fifth girl at the piano, is as pretty as any of the dancers.

Pathe News and nature study pictures complete the bill.

EXCELLENCE OF VAUDEVILLE OPENS AT GRAND

"International Ensemble," a well-rounded act including all light and grand opera airs; excellent voices of three women and three men; clever lighting effects; pretty costumes; and a dainty toe dancer, is the headliner of the bill which opened at Loew's Grand Monday night. The act opens with the company singing Spanish tunes, singing light operetta selections with a series of grand opera selections.

Second honors go to Alexander Patsy, a clever singing comedian, formerly connected with Ringling Brothers' circus where he was known as the "man who walks on his head." As a conclusion to his act, the acrobat stands on his head at the top of an improvised stairs and bounces down to the delight of his audience. He can handle more plates, balls and billiard sticks flying in the air than any man that has appeared before an Atlanta audience in quite a while.

Charlie Allman and George Hamilton, two fast-stepping comedians in an entertaining skit, "That Ain't Nothin'," draws rounds of applause. Their jokes are original and new. A duet by two blackface workers also scored a big hit.

"That Different Boy," Arch Wood, performs on his well-known fiddle box, broom and saw.

Earl Foster and Ethel Ray present a comedy skit, "After Dinner," written by Wilbur Mack, which was full of funny situations.

Elinor Glyn's "Maid and Man" is the feature motion attraction, together with Pathe news reel.

What Was The First Book You Ever Carried Under Your Arm?

The chances are it was your First Speller. It taught you that all the words you would ever use could be built on the familiar "A. B. C."

The next book you carried back and forth to school with you was probably your First Arithmetic. You learned from it that "1, 2, 3" was the basis of all the figuring in the world.

You must feel as though you were among old friends when you turn to the columns of ads in the A-B-C Classified Section—because they're all laid out according to the system of "A-B-C" and "1-2-3."

The scores of Classifications are conveniently grouped and numbered in "1-2-3" arrangement. And every ad under each one is listed in "A-B-C" order.

BRITISH TO REFUSE RELIEF ON RUBBER

London, July 27.—American motorists and others who use the products of British rubber plantations will obtain no relief from the British government designed to halt the mounting price of crude rubber, the United News learns from a reliable source.

Great Britain will not comply with the United States suggestion that restrictions on rubber growing be lessened in order to prevent additions to the price, which already has increased 250 per cent during the past three months.

Alanson B. Houghton, the American ambassador, delivered the American state department's note regarding the rising price of rubber to the foreign office Wednesday. It explains that the Stevenson restriction scheme is working to the injury of an important American industry and asks readjustment.

Will Give Three Reasons.

The British reply probably will set forth that alteration of the restriction scheme would not affect the present situation, and will advance three reasons to support the statement:

First, it is generally accepted that the present price is artificial and the result of a boom.

Second, it is virtually impossible at this time to determine what would be a just price for rubber.

Third, there is no further raw rubber available on plantations for release.

Note Due to Howls.

The dealers believe that the American note probably is due to the "howling" of American manufacturers who misjudged the market, failing to buy early and wisely. It is pointed out that British unwillingness to test at the recent "wheat corner" in the United States, which affected the bread supply of the world.

Rubber, automobile and cycle manufacturers, together with the Royal Automobile association, jointly issued a manifesto Monday demanding drastic government action against the Stevenson scheme. The manifesto declared that the prices of crude rubber for immediate delivery had risen 250 per cent in the past three months, and that the Stevenson scheme, which was designed to create an economic price, had, in fact, created an uneconomic price for more than 5,000,000 British tire users.

Bryan Near Death Kellogg Issues By Strangulation Proclamation 29 Years Ago On Bryan Death

Raleigh, N. C., July 27.—(AP)—But for the quick work of surgeons, the obituary of William Jennings Bryan would have been printed 29 years ago and they would have carried the date line, "Raleigh, N. C., September 26, 1896." The story is printed for the first time in today's Raleigh News and Observer, of which Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy during the Wilson administration, is owner.

Bryan, then the youthful demagogue of democracy, was swinging through the south in his first campaign for the presidency. He spoke to 20,000 people here that night and but few noticed the sharp convulsion of pain that overspread his face as he concluded, or that he slumped toward his chair. Those nearby saw it and sensed that something was wrong. They moved instantly to him and discovered he was unable to speak.

He was hurriedly removed to his room where an examination disclosed that with his last inhalation as he concluded his speech he had sucked into his windpipe an enormous beetle. It was a hard-winged, shagreened fly, a species still common to this section. The presidential candidate suffered painful lacerations of his throat, but he quickly recovered and the next day continued his trip throughout the southern states. The press dispatches of the night bore no reference to it, but for the timely aid of the doctor to him he would have choked to death.

DEBT CONFERENCES
TO BEGIN IN U. S.
FIRST OF AUGUST

Washington, July 27.—A long round of foreign debt negotiations will begin here next week.

The American debt-funding commission has fixed August 6 as the tentative date for its first meeting to take up the question of settlement from several countries recently repudiated their intention of funding their debts.

The Belgian debt-funding mission will arrive in New York August 1, 250 per cent in the past three months, and that the Stevenson scheme, which was designed to create an economic price, had, in fact, created an uneconomic price for more than 5,000,000 British tire users.

The duke also has consented to honorary membership in the Yorktown historical society and the Yorktown country club.

ALIENISTS EXAMINE SCOTT AS TO SANITY

Chicago, July 27.—(AP)—Alienists today began their examination of Russell Scott, former Canadian financier, twice saved from the gallows during the last two weeks, within a few hours of his execution.

Scott, sentenced to hang for the murder of a drug clerk in a hold-up, now bases his hopes of escaping the gallows on the defense plea that he has become insane since his incarceration in jail.

BRITISH MINE ROW IS NEARING CLIMAX

BY CHARLES M. MCCANN.
London, July 27.—Departure of mine leaders to attend the international miners' meeting in efforts has shifted the eyes of Britain's millions across the channel, where the next development in the coal crisis probably will occur. Meanwhile the miners are tightening their belts in preparation for a siege of semi-starvation if the mine strike which menaces Britain begins as scheduled at midnight on July 31.

"At the moment we see no hope of averting the struggle unless the government courageously obtains the withdrawal of the owners' proposals," said A. J. Cook, one of the most prominent of the mine leaders, said before departing for Paris. "No agreement is possible which envisages longer hours or a penny per day reduction in wages. We have completed all preparations for the struggle."

Following a conference with a trades union congress committee, Premier Baldwin personally took charge of the government efforts to mediate the mine trouble Monday. His step in taking over the task when the clouds are darkest is hailed by his countrymen as a portent of peace, but the disaster that awaits Britain if Baldwin fails is none the less fully appreciated. Tuesday Baldwin will meet the mine operators, with word from the miners that the latter demand unequivocal withdrawal of the operators' proposals.

Meanwhile Baldwin carries on about as usual. The king is at Sandringham, Goodwood attending the race meet and plans to attend the Cowes regatta Friday.

The task of financing the strike would be tremendous as the $1,000,000 miners are estimated to have 4,000,000 dependants. The leaders who left for Paris, however, hope to arrange with the continental miners to prevent continental coal from being shipped into Britain, and thus to make the strike as short as possible if it must take place.

COTTON EXPORTER BURNS TO DEATH IN MEMPHIS HOME

Memphis, Tenn., July 27.—(AP)—J. Chas. Norfleet, vice president of the first of Sikee, N. C., cotton exporters, was burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed the interior of the west wing of the Norfleet Park, however, hope to arrange with the continental miners to prevent continental coal from being shipped into Britain, and thus to make the strike as short as possible if it must take place.
